By CHESTER I. McDONALD
Guest Columnist

Why as good a newspaper man as Skinny would want to entrust his column to a group of novices I can't see! He has built up an enviable reputation over a period of time, and he may have to work much harder when he returns (?) from his vacation in order to regain his good standing in the community.

Skinny was in my office this morning to see me, so he says—(my idea is that it was to see one of his fetters) and he said he felt like the proverbial postman that went walking with his substitute while on his vacation. As he left, he said he would go back to his typewriter and prepare another column for fear some of his friends would fail in their assignment to write for him.

While speaking of friends, I should like to say I am glad to be classed as a friend of Skinny's and should miss very much the happy, congenial smile and words which we all receive whenever we see him. It makes no difference where or when he sees you, he has time for a friendly greeting and a pleasant comment. Then, on his way he goes, smiling or laughing, and you are better off for having met him. I am sure we all feel much as Clyde Simmons of Tustin recently stated in his "Shirt Sleeves" column:

"In times past Skinny has said some very nice things about nearly everybody in Orange county. That's quite a record. Some of the rest of us occasionally get out of bed on the wrong side, run off a few writer ribbons through an acid bath, and are ready for the day's work. Not Skinny. Day after day, year after year, that human mite—I can talk that way now with thirty pounds of excess on my frame—writes freely and well about county personalities, and, so far as I know, he has yet to make an unkind statement on aspersions."

Folks, that's a record. Not many of us could touch it if we tried. If you don't believe it, canvass the list of your friends and acquaintances and try to think of something nice to say about each and every one. Difficult? Certainly it is, but Skinny is still at it. To my notion we owe him a rising vote of thanks for the ability to see the good in each one about whom he writes—most interestingly, by the way.

In fact, Skinny's column is remarkable in that it is so completely of personalities. His friends are legion. Even his acquaintances, and just between ourselves, I have yet to hear from any source what ever, an unkind remark about Skinny. "Long may he wave."

I believe that some of Skinny's philosophy may be expressed in the following verse (author unknown):

CHEERING SOMEONE ON
Don't you mind about triumphs,
Don't you grieve about succeeding,
Let the future guard your name.
All the best in life's simplest,
Love will last when wealth is gone;
Just be glad that you are living
And keep cheering someone on.

Let your neighbors hear the blossoms,
Let your comrades wear the crown;
Never mind the little setbacks,
Nor the blows that knock you down.
You'll be there when they're forgotten,
You'll be glad with youth and dawn.
If you just forget your troubles
And keep cheering someone on.

There's a lot of sorrow round you,
Lots of heartaches and of worry
Through the shadows of the years,
And the world needs more than triumphs.
More than all the swords we've drawn,
It is hungering for the fellow
Who keeps cheering others on.

After reading the columns written by Rod Backus, who calls himself "Guest Editor," Earl Abbey, who signs himself as "Guest Columnist," Byron Curry and others, I don't know that Skinny needs to worry about his job being usurped by any of that group—myself included. Perhaps that is why he selected those particular people to write for him so that his boss could see what a good columnist he is. No charge for the "plug" Skinny—be sure John and Ed see it.

Again I say, hat's off to our "6% friend."

Rush Building of Dams Here

Fund Allotment Is 'Go Signal'; Local Men Will Be Hired

United States army engineers cleared the way today for immediate launching of work on Orange county's $15,248,000 flood control and water conservation program.

With receipt of $250,000 with which to complete final tests and plans, the army engineers today said they will put the first crews of men to work on the gigantic flood control project as soon as they can get the crews and equipment together.

The quarter of a million dollars for the special work was allocated by the United States war department. Today it is in the hands of district army engineers in Los Angeles, who will be in active charge of the construction of the eight dams for Orange county.

Captain Cruise of the district office told The Journal today that foundation drillings will be started at once on all eight of the dam sites. The roar of drills biting down to bedrock soon will be heard on the Santa Ana river where the big Prado dam will be built, and on other damsites included in the county-wide program.

Equipment for drilling will be moved on the job and big crews of men put to work. Captain Cruise said he does not know just how many men will get work in this initial activity, but said the army will hire all the local men possible. The drillings will be made to determine the exact places where the huge dams will be erected. Drillings will go to bedrock.

Final plans are being worked out, and as soon as they are completed, calls for bids on contracts will be issued, Captain Cruise said. The army will let contracts on the work if bids are satisfactory, but will do the work by force account if they are not.

Lust Killer Upset
After Death Sentence

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Feeble Bravado, Albert Dyer, convicted of the last slaying of three little girls, restlessly paced his cell today.

Guards at the county jail said with five WPA street crossing men at night following a jury yesterday.

He sobbed, wept on his cot, or impatiently, back the blankets to sleep again with his head buried in his pillow. At 5 a. m. he got up, and washed his face and ate breakfast.

"He couldn't sleep," how he could eat," a guard said. "He just tore into his food."

AIR OF BRAVADO

Yesterday, after a jury of six men and six women, 44 hours of deliberation behind, had returned a guilty verdict that made the death sentence mandatory, Dyer had attempted to carry the air of bravado.

Superior Judge Thomas P. White will pronounce it next Tuesday.

Dyer shouted in the corridor of the county jail after the jury returned its verdict:

"I got it! I got it! I got the rope!"

Of Robert S. James, convicted of killing the last of his many wives he asked:

"What do you think about it, Bob?"

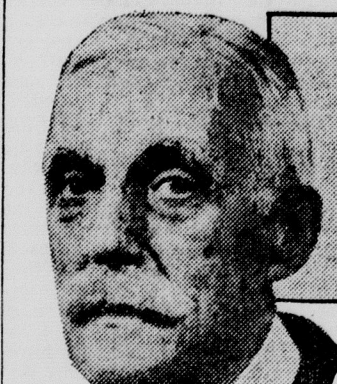

James replied, "Get away from me. I don't want to talk to you."

Dyer finally quieted down. He lay on his cot and sobbed.

The case of Dyer will automatically go to the state supreme court for review. He was convicted of killing Melba and Madeline Everett, sisters, and Jeanette Stephens, into the Baldwin Hills last June 26, strangling them, then attacking their bodies.

Both state and defense emphasized during the trial that the former WPA school crossing guard had the intelligence of an eight or nine-year-old child.

$100,000 FOR BEAN MEN

A hundred thousand dollars in new money poured through the business channels of Santa Ana and Orange county today after being placed in the hands of lima bean growers.

The $100,000 represented another half-cent payment on last year's crop, which is bringing in record returns. The payment was made by the California Lima Bean Growers association through its Orange county associations.

The half-cent payment brings the total for the 1936 crop up to six cents a pound for limas, which means that about $1,250,000 has been distributed to the growers by the association alone so far. This does not include money paid out by growers not connected with the association.

And that isn't all. There'll be another payment yet on the 1936 crop, scheduled to be made in the near future.

Last year's crop brought high prices, amounting to about a cent a pound above normal prices. Prospects for marketing this year's crop are optimistic.

Lima beans constitute one of Orange county's major field crops. In 1936 the county income from standard limas alone was $2,340,700.

Guns Roar, Dudes Run From 'War'

MOUNTAIN PASS, Calif. (AP)—A bunch of the boys shot it out with blank cartridges—in the streets of this little cattle town and scared a party of dudes so badly they spread the report that four rustlers had been killed. Last night a posse of peace officers from towns for miles around rode into Mountain Pass, expecting to find the remains of a range massacre.

Instead they found some wranglers still whooping at their little joke.

Toting shooting irons, flaming madones, five-gallon hats and jingling spurs, the cowboys were staging a little celebration yesterday when tourists arrived.

The tourists had been educated by Wild West movies. The cowboys were born actors.

Into their midst suddenly swarmed a two-gun man. He shouted a fearful threat. Other desperados snorted defiance. Weapons were drawn. Shots rang.

As the gun battle blazed to an end, four men lay sprawled in the dust, apparently lifeless.

By the time the tourists' versions reached Los Angeles, there were five dead—not four—and it was a cattle raid on Rex Bell's ranch—not a celebration—that had cost their "lives."

Bell, western film actor and husband of Clara Bow, former "it" girl, spent several hours last night dithering all.

This question the health department set out to determine today. Sanitary Inspector E. E. Frisby, whose own home has been invaded by mosquitoes, said he plans to catch some tonight to determine their breed. He thinks they may come from the lagoon near Costa Mesa, or perhaps from pools left from the heavy winter rains. Dr. Sutherland urged residents to look first for the blood-sucking pests, disturbing them in their fish ponds and dripping water faucets which form pools of water below them.

The health department has been carrying on some mosquito control work, but it is really not part (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, who built one of the world's greatest fortunes out of banking, oil and aluminum, and who spent his late years in the nation's service as secretary of the treasury and as ambassador to Great Britain, has passed from the American scene.

The shy, diffident, white haired financier, whose 11 years of service under three presidents was surpassed only by one of his predecessors as head of the treasury department, died peacefully last night in his 83rd year.

He died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, after a month's illness from uremia and bronchial pneumonia. At his bedside as life ebbed away were his son-in-law and the financier's two pals and playmates, his son Paul and his daughter, Ailsa, Mrs. Bruce.

The death of Pittsburgh's most powerful figure and one of the nation's most illustrious philanthropists was not unexpected. He had been under the physician's care for three weeks and steadily had grown weaker.

"The end was perfectly peaceful," said Bruce, who married Mellon's only daughter in 1926. "He was very weak."

Mellon made no last statement or request as he passed away.

U. S. WARNING SENT JAPAN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Hull said today this government had served notice upon Japan and China that it would demand respect of all of its rights and interests in the Far East.

The secretary added that the governments of Japan and China were requested to observe these rights to the extent that they would be responsible for damages to this government, or its citizens, as a result of hostile operations.

Although Hull did not directly connect this notice to the conflicting powers with a reported threat by Japan to blockade Chinese ports, Hull said American consular officials had confirmed an announcement that Japan intended to enforce peaceful blockade, and did not intend to interfere with foreign shipping.

San Francisco. (AP)—Five thousand children of California's migratory agricultural workers are suffering from malnutrition, Dr. W. M. Dickie, director of the state department of public health, declared here today.

"In the last two weeks we estimate there have been 49,729 migratory agricultural workers in the state, not including Los Angeles," Dr. Dickie stated.

"Of those, approximately 28,000 are children."

One child out of every five, said Dickie, is improperly fed.

The state child hygiene department, to correct the situation, is sending nurses into the fields.

Three Drown as Dam Bursts

GUADALAJARA, Mexico. (AP)—Three persons were drowned last night and several injured when the El Capacero dam on the Lerma river burst and flooded a large area.

Hundreds of cattle were reported lost. Heavy rains had weakened the dam, it was said.

GIRL ENTERS WAR WITH CAMERA, LIPSTICK

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Lipstick and revolver side-by-side, wearing shorts and tramping through China's war-churned mud in high heels, Joy Lucks, special Associated Press photographer, returned here today from the North China battle fronts.

Pretty and twenty-three, she amazed Chinese, English and American newspapers with her daring. She shot with the camera while soldiers beside her used guns.

One of her narrow escapes came during the desperate battle of Nanyuan where, she said, Japanese forces, after inviting the Chinese for a conference, slaughtered unarmed Chinese soldiers in their barracks.

FEELING RUNS HIGH

Informed sources said that in spite of high feeling in Britain over the attack on the ambassador, no further action on the part of the British government was to be expected today.

The British attitude was one of "exasperation and indignation," these quarters said.

Persons close to the government emphasized that the possibilities of obtaining "full satisfaction" was "very limited." This strengthened a widespread belief that Britain might be compelled to withdraw its ambassador.

Robert L. Craigie, from Tokyo.

The suggestion that the British government would break off diplomatic relations with Japan unless it showed satisfaction already had been widely discussed.

SEEK INFORMATION

Informed sources, however, said the government wanted further information concerning the shooting before it was decided what "appropriate action" to take in the matter.

The foreign office yesterday announced "appropriate action with the Japanese government" would be forthcoming.

The length of Eden's conference with the Japanese was taken to mean that the foreign secretary spent the better part of half an hour outlining Britain's official stand in the matter.

The fact that the Japanese ambassador waited until today to make his official call did not improve public feeling toward Japan.

I'll Tell You By BOB BURNS

It always embarrasses me to be invited to those swanky art exhibits. I'm afraid if I don't go, they'll think I don't appreciate them and I know that if I do go, I'll show my ignorance. I may be a little bit coarse, but I declare, I can't look at a picture of a whiff-a-grigs and dabs of paint on a canvas and tell what beautiful thought and soulful sentiment the artist meant to convey. I guess there ain't much of that kind of culture in my family.

I was pretty much surprised and kinda proud when Uncle Hod took such an interest in a picture on a calendar I had at the house not long ago. It was the picture of a curly-headed child lying on the beach close to the water with his eyes closed and standing near him was a big St. Bernard dog and the title of the picture was "Saved." Uncle Hod studied it a long time and when I asked him what he thought of it, he said, "No wonder the kid fainted after pullin' that big dog out of the water!"

British Ambassador's
Shooting Brings
Japan Crisis

LONDON. (AP)—Authoritative quarters said the British government's demand for "full satisfaction" for the wounding of its ambassador to China was presented today to the Japanese ambassador to London.

The demand was understood to have been made by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to Shigeru Yoshida, the Japanese envoy, when the latter called at the foreign office to tender officially Japan's regrets.

Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, Britain's ambassador, was gravely wounded Thursday when shot by Japanese airmen on the road between Nanking and Shanghai.

Ambassador Yoshida spent half an hour with the foreign secretary, indicating the public interest in the tension in Anglo-Japanese relations, a crowd gathered at the Downing street entrance to the foreign office to witness the Japanese envoy's arrival and departure.

Earlier in the day Quo Tai-Chi, the Chinese ambassador, had visited Mr. Eden.

FUNERAL RITE ARRANGED FOR MELLON

and varied activities paid him tribute, plans were made for funeral services in Pittsburgh, where he was born and spent his life with the exception of his years in Washington and London.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at the East Liberty Presbyterian church, a magnificent edifice which Mellon and his brother, the late R. E. Mellon, made possible by their benefactions. The body will be taken to Pittsburgh late today.

FABULOUS WEALTH
Mellon was fabulously wealthy but the extent of his personal fortune was in the realm of speculation when he died. The only official estimate made public was $205,000,000, given by Mellon's secretary during hearing of the banker's income tax appeal in 1931. Friends said, however, they believed the combined fortune of the financier and his two children would amount to approximately $500,000,000.

Like Joan D. Rockefeller, sr., and other contemporaries, Mellon's personal fortune had been partly dissipated by the lavishness of his philanthropies.
Mellon's vast enterprises reached around the earth and gave employment to thousands. Banking, oil and aluminum were his principal interests and their corporate names were the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh, one of the nation's largest, the Gulf Oil Company, and the Aluminum Company of America, dominant in its field.

VISITS PRESIDENT
Only a few weeks before his last illness he visited President Roosevelt and made final arrangements for his last great public benefaction—establishment of a national gallery of art in the national capital with his $50,000,000 art collection, one of the finest extant, as the nucleus.

One of the last great statesmen-financiers of the nation, Andrew William Mellon successfully shunned the limelight and was little known to his countrymen until he became secretary of the treasury under President Warren G. Harding in 1921.
He remained on the job until 1932 when he retired to become ambassador to Great Britain.

Fellow Republicans hailed him as "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton," but he was the target of sharp attack by the Democrats who unsuccessfully attempted to drive him from office in 1924.
RETIREES IN 1933
Mellon retired to private life in 1933 when he resigned as ambassador to Great Britain, and afterwards seldom appeared in public. A man of few words, his last public speech was at the dedication of the new home of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research in Pittsburgh May 6.

Born to wealth, Andrew Mellon was a man of simple tastes, a multi-millionaire who never owned a yacht, a private pullman car or a country estate.
He adhered to his modest mode of living at the Court of St. James's to the disappointment of English society, which had expected this American Croesus to entertain in lavish fashion.
One of the best stories Washington heard about him was the time he was temporarily embarrassed by lack of funds. He rode to his office one day in a taxi. He found his pockets empty and had to borrow 60 cents to pay his taxi-cab fare.

Of the many tributes paid Mellon one came from the man under whom he served for four years—Former President Herbert Hoover.

"His public service will be told by historians," he said. "My greatest impression of him was his innate modesty. His lifelong benefactions were studiously withheld from the public. For years he forbade mention of the great gifts he had prepared for the American people."

Sigma Chi Honors Booth Tarkington

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me. (AP)—Booth Tarkington, author and twice winner of the Pulitzer prize, today held a Sigma Chi medal, presented for the "honor and prestige" he has brought the fraternity.

The presentation was made by Chester W. Cleveland, editor of the Sigma Chi magazine, who led a delegation of 15 committee members, attending the fraternity convention here, to Tarkington's summer home yesterday.

LONDON-JAPAN CRISIS SEEN

bull-Hugessen, his back broken by a Japanese machine gun bullet, was in a critical condition in a Shanghai hospital. Indignant foreign officials were said to take a grave view of the attack made on the envoy's car by Japanese bombers in the Shanghai area of undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

3-POINT DEMAND
The Japanese government was understood to be considering a three-point demand for satisfaction that would amount to a virtual ultimatum to Japan. These were:

1. Drastic punishment of the airman involved in the attack.
2. Guarantees from Tokyo that steps would be taken at once to prevent any possibility of recurrence of such an incident.
3. Full compensation for the victim.

Should the Japanese government not give full satisfaction, it was suggested in some quarters that Britain might withdraw Sir Robert L. Craigie, British ambassador to Japan, from Tokyo temporarily, in effect severing diplomatic relations.

While there was no suggestion the outrage was deliberate, it was pointed out in informed circles that an attack on the ambassador—the direct personal representative of the king—was the gravest form of diplomatic incident possible.

The foreign office, therefore, was expected to take the sternest sort of tone in any negotiations with the Japanese government, this was thought especially likely since Britain has already warned both China and Japan she would hold them responsible for damage to British property and injury to British subjects.

RAILWAY STRIKE IS POSTPONED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Effective time of the strike order of 1500 to 2000 Pacific Electric trainmen was postponed from 2 a. m. tomorrow to the same hour Wednesday morning, Sept. 1, it was announced today at union headquarters.

C. T. Nolan, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen on Pacific Electric lines, issued the following statement:

"On instructions issued by President A. F. Whitney, of the brotherhood, effective time of the strike order has been postponed until 2 a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 1. Meanwhile the arrival of the United States mediator is awaited."

Franco Envoy Visits Vatican

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—The Papal secretary of state, Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, today received the envoy of Spain's insurgent government and accepted his "letters of cabinet."

This continues the "de facto recognition" that the Vatican has accorded the government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco through Pablo De Churrua, Marquis of Ayacena.

ARMY RUSHES PLANS FOR DAMBUILDING

the county-wide project for a period of three years. All the local men possible will be employed, and when the main part of the work is started the labor market in this district will be greatly strengthened. Real wages and not relief allowances will be paid for jobs.

Experience has shown that when such a huge sum as $15,248,000 is expended in a small territory, business booms. The program, then, will directly benefit business of all types throughout Orange county.

The fact that voters of Orange county approved the $2,500,000 bond issue which will furnish Orange county's share of the cost, by the overwhelming majority of 10 to 1 gave evidence to the government that citizens of this county want the government to put in the flood control and water conservation works. The government will pay the entire cost of construction. Orange county's share of the cost going for purchase of land needed for reservoir sites, guarantee against flood damage and auxiliary works.

CONTRACTORS UNITE
Congress has allocated funds for the project, and the money will be available for the big construction job as soon as it is needed by the United States army engineers.

In the meantime, local contractors, business men and manufacturers have launched plans to form an organization which will act in the interest of local firms which can do part of the work or furnish material and equipment. The plan was first announced by Earl S. Casey, Tustin engineer. He and George Young, president of the Orange County Builders exchange, with Secretary G. W. Bassett of the exchange, form a committee which is arranging a meeting for Sept. 3, at which time the various aspects of the program will be discussed.

Seeking to correlate their work with that of the government and county, the Orange county water district directors have started a movement to acquire the Santa Ana river channel land to give the district control over the most absorptive areas of the channel.

TO SPREAD WATER

This is being done to make possible construction of water spreading works to sink underground the water released from the Prado dam. The water will be released at a rate capable of being conserved by sinking in the underground basin.

The Prado dam on the Santa Ana river is the biggest unit in the county-wide program. It will be an earth-fill dam, more like a solid mountain than the usual conception of a dam. It will cost the government $4,900,000 and Orange county, $1,763,500.

The Brea creek project will cost the government $701,000 and the county $90,110; Carbon canyon, government $1,398,000 and county $152,190; San Juan creek, government $2,171,000 and county $52,000; Arroyo Trabuco, government $1,379,000, county $96,000; Santiago creek, government $1,527,000, county $63,865; Fullerton creek and Loftus diversion, government $310,000, county $293,280, and Aliso creek, government $362,000, county $18,900. Incidental expenses for the county were set at $51,555.

Besides giving the county flood protection, it is estimated that the program will save about 41,000 acre feet of water annually.

Wearing of the fez in Turkey has been forbidden since Mustafa Kemal Pasha came into power.

Solons Now May Get Farm Aid

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A bill to permit members of congress to enter agreements under federal agricultural programs received President Roosevelt's approval today.

Under a 1934 act, congressmen were eligible for farm and home owners loans, and could enter agreements under the former agricultural adjustment act. They were excluded, however, from the soil erosion program.

The measure makes them eligible to participate in all farm programs.

LAYTON LOOKS AT DELHI

Councilman Ernest H. Layton made an inspection tour of Delhi streets today. But he didn't get stuck, because it wasn't raining. Much to the chagrin of "Mayor" Matt Lujan of Delhi.

Lujan has been attempting to get the city to do something about the Delhi streets, which he says, are impassable during the rainy season. He even plans to get the Mexican settlement out of the city limits unless something is done.

Yesterday Layton expressed the desire for Street Commissioner Layton to make the inspection tour when it was raining. So he'd get bogged down in the mud. But Layton chose today, which was nice and dry.

And when Layton returned from the trip over the Delhi streets he said the problem is a real one. You can't use oil successfully on the Delhi streets because of the alkali in the roads which gobbles up the oil. Gravel might be used. At any rate, Layton will present his report at a council meeting in the near future and pass the problem on to the city trustees. Estimates of cost of improving the streets will be made, and it was indicated something might be done, if the cost is not too great.

Layton pointed out today that the same or worse condition prevails on Artesia, between First and Fourth, where torrents of water poured through during the last heavy rains.

WATER BATTLE IS APPEALED

Mrs. Lucille Bates, erstwhile Water Queen of Silver Acres, finally got her neighborhood wrangle into superior court today—just exactly 10 months after she was ejected from her pet pump-house.

Justice Chris Pann of Huntington Beach township filed papers in Mrs. Bates' suit with County Clerk J. M. Backs, paving the way for a superior court hearing of the Water Queen's $306 forcible entry and unlawful detainer suit. Mrs. Bates is suing eight of her Silver Acres neighbors as a result of last year's Battle of the Pumphouse, in which the Water Queen emerged second best when 30 thirsty families stormed the pump-house and turned on the water supply of the West Fifth street subdivision.

The suit is brought technically by Dora Bates, West Fifth street barber and Mrs. Bates' father-in-law, in whose name Mrs. Bates obtained a state lease to the tax-delinquent pump-house property for $5.

Defendants in the action are W. W. Cadwallader, Charles L. Forry, Howard Hoodman, W. W. Berry, C. W. Buck, Frank Hess, A. F. Langford, and L. A. Reid. The case ended in a draw last month when Justice D. J. Dodge awarded judgment to neither side.

FLAMES RUIN SUBURB OF SHANGHAI

trained on their backs to force them to stand fast.

After continuous shelling, Japanese infantrymen fixed bayonets and went over the top. Storming through machine gun and rifle fire they met Chinese forces hand-to-hand. A Japanese company commander, leading the charge, either was killed or wounded. Another Japanese officer was seriously wounded.

The thunder of exploding shells and bombs echoed in Shanghai. Caravans of Chinese motor trucks, loaded with arms and munitions, rolled toward the new front. Thousands of Chinese troops rushed to the lines under a Japanese air bombardment.

Today's battle carried destruction well away from the close-in scenes of two weeks of Shanghai war.

CITIES DESTROYED

Hongkew and Yangtzepoo districts of the city were burnt-out craters of desolation. New and apparently more terrific eruptions spouted on a northwest line through Kiating and Nansiang to Lihuo, on the mighty Yangtze.

Along this line Japanese war planes started a powerful bombardment of Chinese positions. Newly-arrived Japanese reinforcements drove forward against the weary Chinese armies, heartened late today by arrival of the first of the three new divisions and heavy artillery support.

Chinese said three thousand Japanese were killed or wounded at Lotien, but Japanese army spokesmen denied the claim. Chinese told of a retreat by Japanese from Lotien to Lion Forest. Japanese said the only time their forces had retreated during the warfare thus far was when fired in the Yangtzepoo sector.

Japanese also denied a Chinese charge that Japanese machine guns poured death on the streets of the river front Yangtze. Shanghai municipal officials had removed two hundred bodies of Chinese civilians from the area.

AMERICANS DENIED

From Chungking, the American government refused to protect the American citizens in the Yangtze. American ships in the Yangtze were forced to "take action" there because of the "presence of Chinese firing trench mortars."

Withdrawal of belligerents from fringes of the international settlement eased tension among Shanghai's foreign residents. For the first time since hostilities started, crews of neutral warships were granted shore leave.

Late today Japanese planes dropped incendiary bombs on parts of the Pootung area across the Whangpoo from Shanghai. Scores of Chinese houses caught fire. For a time the Socory company oil tanks were endangered, but Shanghai municipal fireboats extinguished the flames.

While Japanese troops launched a supreme attempt to drive the Chinese army from the outer Shanghai defense lines, 120,000 of

Fort Wayne 'Sees Double' As 3000 Twins Gather

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—This city will "see double" literally this week-end when approximately 3000 twins—ranging from squealing baby "look-alikes" to those with white hair, or bald heads—come here from at least 13 states for the sixth annual convention of the National Twins' association.

Edward M. Clark of Silver Lake, Ind., president, predicted this year's festival of fun would draw

"the largest number of twins ever to assemble at one time."

Fort Wayne alone will have 600 twins on hand to be hosts and hostesses.

Clink pointed out "no serious matters" would be settled at the convention, but the sessions would be "reunions at which the twins can compare notes and each other."

A parade of the twins will be held tomorrow afternoon, and a banquet in honor of the out-of-town brothers and sisters will be on the evening program.

Early Sunday morning a general get-together will be staged in an amusement park. Prizes will be awarded during the day to the most attractive twins, the most identical girls over 12, most identical boys under 12, most unlike twins, most twins in one family, most identical boys under and over 12, youngest twins and the oldest twins.

Last year the Clark family of Zanesville, Ind., sent four sets of twins to the convention to capture first prize. Last year's oldest twins were 83 years and the youngest four weeks.

Clink said there are approximately 4,000,000 twins in the United States.

DIALOGUE WINS FREE LAWYER

Jack Barnes Collins, who does dialogue bits for the movies and hasn't any objections to Leo Friis, Anaheim attorney, except that he would have to pay for his legal services, will apply for probation on burglary charges.

This was the outcome of a dialogue bit between Collins and Superior Judge James L. Allen today as Collins was arraigned on charges of stealing several articles from a county hospital dormitory last month.

"I thought I'd just throw myself on the mercy of the court," said Collins. "I had to sell my car to hire an attorney for the first hearing."

"Well," said Judge Allen, "I don't like to send a man to the penitentiary without hearing all the facts. Mr. Friis is a good attorney; I'll give him to you." (The county provides lawyers for those unable to hire them.)

Collins told the judge he "just happened" to be here from Long Beach because he was breaking in a new car for an airline hostess who couldn't break it in because she was busy. He picked up a girl hitch-hiker and took her to the hospital, he said, and then entered the dormitory. His application for probation will be heard Sept. 3.

Nippon's fighting men hammered at 225,000 Chinese on fronts along strategic railroads in North China.

CHINESE THREATEN

A Chinese flanking movement southwest of Peiping presented a threat to the 150-mile Japanese front and delayed the start of a major Japanese offensive.

The battle for Lotien was described as the fiercest since the outbreak of hostilities in the Shanghai area two weeks ago. The little city of Lotien was said by one observer to resemble the last day of Pompeii. The entire town had been reduced to ashes by the intense Chinese and Japanese aerial and artillery bombardment.

The neighboring town of Katling was in flames as the armies surged through it before the Japanese lines finally broke. Chinese reported their pursuit had driven the Japanese to Lion forest north of Lotien. The Chinese command asserted the casualties suffered by the two crack Nanking divisions had been heavy.

Owing to the unexpectedly heavy casualties suffered by the Japanese, a fleet of hospital ships was ordered dispatched from the homeland. The first unit tied up today off the Bund near the U. S. S. Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, prominently displaying the Red Cross emblem.

NEW PLANE SAFETY PLAN SUCCESS

OAKLAND. (AP)—Giant air liners sliding down radio beams to safe landings on fog-shrouded runways as the prospect held out today as the result of tests made here with a revolutionary new aid to blind flying.

Fifty times yesterday, two huge transports landed at Oakland airport with nothing to guide the pilots save two tiny needles on instrument boards in sealed, covered cockpits.

A department of commerce research sub-committee, composed of airline representatives, watched the tests with such enthusiasm that they recommended the department order the apparatus installed as soon as possible on all transport planes.

The Austrians entered Belgrade, Serbia's capital, on Dec. 2, 1914, after shelling the city four months. Aided by British armed launches, the Serbians recaptured Belgrade 11 days later. The city's final fall occurred Oct. 9, 1915.

CITY BEAUTY VALUE TOLD BY DYKSTRA

Local Officials Hear
Prominent Experts

Time was when the problems of the individual were dominant, but in order to face a changing world, the individual must accommodate himself to the needs of society as a whole, Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and former city manager of Cincinnati, told nearly 250 assembled County League of Municipalities members and Coast association members last night at a joint dinner meeting at the Hotel Laguna.

In stressing that public administrators and city planners must think constantly of the less tangible side of life—of beauty—Dr. Dykstra said, "Ideas are the things which mould civilizations." He emphasized, however, Aristotle's opinion that public administration was the highest art.

COMMENDS COAST

Dykstra commended the coast association for its ideal in improving the liveliness of the south region in Orange county. Under the subject, "The Cultural Aspect of Orange County Coastline," Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf, archaeologist and dean of religion at the University of Southern California, told the assembled city officials and improvement planners "the pattern that we set in this coast area is either just to be an extended metropolitan area, or a haven of rest and of beautiful residence."

Dr. Knopf, the other guest speaker of the meeting, pointed out that the preservation of beauty in city planning does not stop progress. It is possible, he said, to "move along with the world, at the same time keeping the old things," and Orange county—Laguna Beach particularly—"has an atmosphere desirable to keep."

BECOME MEMBERS

When the Coast association's president, Leslie F. Kimmell, suggested that both Dr. Dykstra and Dr. Knopf be made honorary members of the association, the Wisconsin University president interrupted the motion with "I'd rather be a regular member." Both speakers were unanimously accepted into regular membership.

Mayor Fred Rowland of Santa Ana, chairman of the county league of municipalities, spoke briefly before turning over the meeting to the coast association. Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim, two-year representative of the county and state municipality association affairs, was unanimously re-elected representative. He will represent county municipalities at the state convention Sept. 12-16.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers were Mayor L. F. Mallow of Laguna Beach, who welcomed both associations, Franklin Lowmyer of the California Safety Council, and Dr. Walter L. Bigham of the Orange county planning commission.

Chairman Leslie Kimmell introduced Frank Cuprien, dean of Laguna artists, who told of his coming to Laguna 25 years ago.

Other persons introduced were Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuchel, state assemblymen, Supervisor N. E. West and former House Speaker Ted Craig.

of its job, unless they are malaria-bearing types, which are rare here. Dr. Sutherland said he has urged formation of Mosquito Protection districts to minimize the pests and wipe out breeding places. Draining of pools where they breed or pouring oil over them are control measures used.

The type of mosquito now nibbling at tender local skins may be the aedes Taeniorhynchus Wiedemann, a salt-water mosquito found in Southern California and which flies here from the lagoon between here and the coast. The larvae inhabit pools near the seashore that are slightly saline, but not directly filed by the tides. It is an indiscriminating biter and very troublesome. The funny thing is that the mosquitoes raise swollen, itching bumps on some persons, but do not bother others.

FLEAS HOPPING

Fleas also are swarming in record-breaking numbers through this district, the health department said. Of the approximately 500 species of fleas known to exist, less than one dozen are of special interest to man and domestic animals, but any individual of these few species, when bent upon satisfying its appetite, fully occupies the attention of its chosen host.

The human flea, the dog flea, the cat flea, the stick-tight flea, the hen flea and the rat flea, which carry the bubonic plague, are the principal species that annoy man and domestic animals. The main steps in control are the elimination of breeding places and the destruction of fleas on the infested animals. Fleas breed in greatest numbers on soil or in dust containing vegetable and animal matter protected from wind, rain

IMPERIAL IS SAVED FROM DROUGHT

EL CENTRO. (P)—Fear of a water shortage in Imperial valley eased today as officials of a Mexican water company controlling Colorado river canals south of the border offered to submit the demands of union workers to an arbitration board.

The board would have power to recommend special regulations to President Cardenas of Mexico.

Imperial Irrigation District officials announced yesterday that the water supply on both sides of the international line would be cut off if a threatened strike is carried out next Thursday in Lower California.

The valley's seven principal cities and rich farming country depend entirely on the Colorado river canals for water.

and sun, but at the same time furnished with a certain amount of moisture.

USE SPRAYS

All animals and poultry should be prevented from going beneath buildings, the vegetable and animal matter carefully cleaned up, the infested areas sprayed with creosote oil, and the ground where the immature fleas are developing covered with salt and thoroughly wet down.

House infestations may be prevented by eliminating pet animals and applying gasoline to the floors after all rugs have been removed and the floors thoroughly scrubbed with soap and water. Applying derris powder to pet animals or washing them in a comparatively weak solution of saponified creosote or kerosene emulsion will destroy the fleas upon them.

A business change was announced today by Fred Walker, who has purchased the fruit and vegetable department at the Bradley Food Center Market, Washington and Main streets.

He has been in the fruit and vegetable business in Santa Ana for a number of years, and said he intends to carry the finest quality of merchandise. Walker will devote all his time to his new business. He assured the public he will use great care in selection of fruits and vegetables and that they will be moderately priced.

Two Accused of Drunk Driving

James W. Royal, 36, 4817 West Ninety-ninth street, Inglewood, was booked at the county jail last night on drunk driving charges. He was arrested at First and Tustin avenue in Tustin by Deputy Sheriffs Harvey Gulick and E. Stanley after Royal had been reported in an accident at Newport boulevard and 101 highway.

Alfonso Trujillo, 29, 247 East Truslow street, Fullerton, was booked in the county jail yesterday on drunk driving charges. He was brought to the jail by Officer Wurtz of the Fullerton police department after Trujillo's arrest in that city.

CANNON SAYS BUDGET TO BE BALANCED

WASHINGTON. (A)—Acting Chairman Cannon of the house appropriations committee predicted today a balanced budget next year through reduction of all appropriations.

"By 1938," he asserted, "we shall begin making payments on the national debt." The debt now stands just under $37,000,000,000, the largest figure in history.

"For the first time, the condition of the country is back to where we expect to discontinue or drastically curtail emergency activities," Cannon said.

While Cannon looked to next year, treasury officials said a probable revision of budget estimates for this fiscal year might show federal finances in better shape.

They said enactment of the law to close tax loopholes and the "freezing" of a part of appropriations already made to departments would make possible a substantial reduction in the prospective 1938 deficit.

This deficit was placed at $418,000,000 in an April forecast but Cannon, speaking of the January session of congress, said "every appropriation bill will carry less than the corresponding bill of the present session."

Gas Workers' Union Elects

Election of two new strategy board members last night completed organization of the Pacific Gas Workers' union here. The charter also was closed at the meeting last night.

A court revealed the chapter now has 142 paid memberships. Ed Hawkins and H. E. Griffin were elected to serve on the strategy board with James E. Merigold, who was elected to the board at a previous meeting.

John H. Fox, president of the local chapter, revealed plans for a picnic for members and their families and friends, to be held next Sunday, Aug. 29, at Foster park near Ventura. Plans for future activities will be discussed at the picnic event.

MWD STRIKE DEMANDS ARE LISTED

Representatives of striking Metropolitan Water District employees came through Orange county yesterday afternoon to clear up what they said were misunderstandings regarding the strike and to seek public sympathy for their program.

Roy Hoskinson, chairman of the strikers' negotiations committee, conferred with Mayor Fred C. Rowland yesterday afternoon, after visiting The Journal offices.

Hoskinson said that published statements to the effect that the strikers are demanding pay increases are not true. The main object of the strike, he said, is to defend the workers against what they believe is discrimination on the part of officials of the district.

The strike will start into the third week tomorrow.

DEFENSIVE MOVE

The representative of the striking union claimed that officials employed by the MWD have consistently discriminated against members of the union in an effort to break it up. The present strike, he said, is a defensive move, called to put into writing only what officers of the MWD had promised the workers.

Demands of the strikers, who number 96 per cent of the workers on the San Jacinto tunnel work, key to the entire aqueduct program, were listed by Hoskinson. He pointed out that 1260 out of the 1300 men are on strike. These include many from Santa Ana, Fullerton and Anaheim, he said. These are MWD member-cities. He said the strike is costing taxpayers here money, because of delay in work, strike-breaking tactics, deterioration of equipment, etc.

DEMANDS LISTED
Some of the more important demands of the MWD local of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smettermen Workers, affiliated with the CIO, were listed as follows by Hoskinson:

"That the union be recognized by the district as the sole collective bargaining agent for all employees except superintendents, executives, officials and others in advisory capacity."

"That the district will not discourage membership of its employees in the union."

"That a permanent grievance committee be formed between the union and district to negotiate differences of opinion."

"That there shall be no discrimination, coercion or intimidation by the district or any of its agents or supervisors against any employee because of his membership or activity in the union."

TIME UNDERGROUND

"That in increasing forces or hiring of new employees all members of the union now laid off shall be given preference and it is further agreed that in this the cooperation of the union shall be enlisted."

"In the event of dismissal, termination notice shall state specific reason. Where cause is challenged settlement shall be by mutual agreement."

"Other terms include minimizing time spent underground, eliminating unsafe working conditions, and that efforts be made to get social security benefits for workers."

Steel Helmets For Sale at Bargain Prices

SHANGHAI (AP) — Foreigners walked Shanghai's streets today wearing "bargain basement" steel helmets.

Chinese stores even pushed the sale of gas masks with vividly illustrated advertisements of Chinese men and women wearing them and the slogans: "Save your lives by wearing our gas masks."

Other merchants displayed sandbags "For defensive purposes" at cut prices, warning shoppers there are "only a few left."

Many Chinese stores stack regulation army-style steel helmets for sale "either singly or by the dozen."

Unless the Chinese sacrifice their lives they will become puppets; therefore the supreme sacrifice is the only way open.—Wang Chung-Hui, Chinese foreign minister.

Ends Life—Why?

Police and friends agreed Adalide Hughes, beautiful blonde showgirl, ended her life in New York with those of two other dancers.

Woman Run Over By 18-Car Train Only Frightened

MOUNTAIN STAGE, Ireland. (American Wire)—Mrs. Patrick Flynn, bruised but happy, now has a real life adventure to tell as she gossips with her friendly neighbors—because she has just been run over by an 18-car railroad train.

Mrs. Flynn and a neighbor sat down on the railroad track one afternoon last week for a friendly chat. They became so interested in their conversation that they didn't hear the train until it was almost upon them. The neighbor leaped to safety, but the more portly Mrs. Flynn, seeing she couldn't get away in time, drew her skirts around her tightly, stretched out flat between the rails and closed her eyes.

The entire train passed over her, but except for jar and fright, she was uninjured.

Police said Miss Hughes had a promising future.

18 KILLED AS SPIES BY CHINESE

Physicians and Scribe
Among Executed

NANKING. (AP)—The Chinese government announced tonight that 18 persons, including three women, had been convicted of "espionage on behalf of the enemy" and executed. All were Chinese. Four of the 18 were physicians who had been trained in Japan. One was a newspaperman, serving an obscure news agency.

All but one were accused of furnishing military information to the Japanese. That one was said to have divulged the Chinese government's decision to block the lower Yangtze river, which was done to prevent Japanese warships from ascending the river to attack Nanking.

Authorities disclosed several other persons were under arrest, suspected of communicating with the enemy. Some were said to have communicated with Japanese airplanes by rockets and other signals.

Scientists Examine Small Rainstorms

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—(American Wire)—Small-size rainstorms in western Oklahoma are being used by the U. S. weather bureau in gathering data on the shapes of storms.

For more than a year, 2500 farmers and persons on relief have been making reports of storms in a certain area. It was found that the wind tends to blow in channels about 20 to 30 miles apart. This channeling effect is believed by weather officials to be the reason why some fields are hit by erosion while adjoining fields are untouched. The wind channels were about eight miles wide.

LOST AT SEA

Aftermath Of Tientsin Bombing

This bleak scene shows the aftermath of fighting near the East Station in Tientsin, China, where Chinese lost the area to the Japanese, recaptured it in a surprise counter-attack and lost it again. Japanese aerial bombs caused many fires. Bodies of horses lie behind the fence, mute victims of a man-made war.

CANDYLAND HAS NEW QUARTERS

Candyland, Santa Ana's oldest established independent candy shop, moves forward tomorrow with the opening of a modern, clean, and conveniently-located store at 503 North Main street.

Mrs. Mildred Decker is proprietor of the smart new shop. Mrs. Decker, who has been in the candy business locally for more than 15 years, makes all her own candies—the only one in Orange county doing so. During the year Mrs. Decker has as many as 80 varieties of delicious and appetizing candies from which to choose.

Offering a service unlike any other shops in the city, Mrs. Decker will feature specially-prepared party candies.

After first operating in the Grand Central market here, Candyland moved to Fifth and Broadway, where it had been until moving to the new Main street address. Store hours will be from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Governor Lauds Curb on Speed

SACRAMENTO. (Special)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam today ordered the California Highway Patrol to continue work on reduction of speed and warnings to slow-moving vehicles.

"Your reduction of deaths on rural highways for July is very gratifying," said the governor, "and I sincerely hope that the next six months will bring a greater reduction."

The remarks of Gov. Merriam were occasioned by the report of the highway patrol that there had been a decrease of 31 traffic deaths in July, as compared with the same month a year ago. This reduction was directly attributable to an intensive drive by the highway patrol on speed, and a requirement that slow-moving vehicles withdraw from the highway at intervals in order to allow faster moving cars behind free passage.

OCEANSIDE PLANS FIESTA

OCEANSIDE. — Oceanside is ready for the Days of San Luis Rey Fiesta and Rodeo celebration Sept. 4, 5 and 6. The city is gaily decorated with flags and banners on the streets and buildings, and cleverly trimmed whiskers on the male population.

The festivities will start with crowning of the fiesta queen, pretty Betty Lawrence, Saturday, Sept. 4, which will be followed by the fiesta dance.

The rodeo parade will be Sunday noon. It will consist of silver mounted horses, the popular Palomar Riders, Rex the Wonder Horse, Paramount motion picture actors, rodeo contestants and entertainers.

Outstanding riders from many parts of Southern California will participate in the rodeo during the afternoon. Specialty acts will keep the audience entertained every minute of the exciting event.

An historic pageant, re-enacting scenes of early California, will be held on the beach during the evening.

The Days of San Luis Rey parade will be held Monday morning. It will feature early California transportation, Spanish dons and señoritas, and early California families.

The AAU round-the-pier rough water swim, nationally recognized, will be held in the afternoon. Sixty to 100 swimmers from San Francisco south will vie for the honors.

District Tries to Buy Bible's Pages

LONDON. (American Wire)—Efforts are being made by residents of northeast England to raise a thousand pounds in order to purchase ten pages of an eighth century Bible for the British museum.

The Bible was written at the monasteries of Jarrow and Monkwearmouth. It has been said there were three copies of the edition and that one was presented to Rome by the first Abbott of Jarrow.

The ten pages to be purchased for the British museum were discovered in a binding for various chartularies of the Willoughby estates in the library of Lord Middleton, at Wollaton.

Calavo Plans to Market Dates

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Three-fourths of California's next date crop will be marketed by the Calavo Growers, cooperative agency which also sells avocados and limes through 45 branch offices.

George B. Hodgkin, Calavo manager, said the newly-formed United Date Growers of California, a Coachella valley organization, has signed an exclusive sales contract.

ASSEMBLYMAN DIES IN PLANE

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The bodies of State Assemblyman Pritchard H. Strong, wealthy Rochester aviation enthusiast, and three companions were found today in the twisted wreckage of Strong's airplane a mile south of the Albany airport.

The bodies were so badly mangled that positive individual identification was impossible immediately, but Joseph Fitzgerald, Albany airport manager, said there was no doubt the victims were Strong and his party, who disappeared in flight from Saratoga Springs to Albany early today.

In the party were believed to be Mrs. Strong and Charles H. Judson, Rochester investment counsel. The pilot was Clarence Robinson of Rochester.

Two bodies were buried so deeply in the wreckage that they could not be immediately extricated. The body of a woman was thrown clear and that of a man, believed to be the pilot, was partly outside the plane.

WAR VETS HIT ALIEN LAWS

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)—United Spanish War Veterans, meeting in the final session of their 39th annual encampment, adopted resolutions yesterday criticizing federal administration of immigration laws and striking at Communism, Marxism and Socialism.

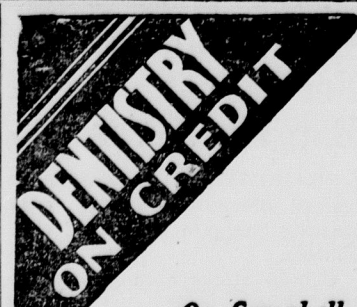

The immigration resolution said: "We demand that the secretary of labor," the resolution added, "enforce the law and promptly deport all aliens who have been convicted of crimes involving moral turpitude; that she identify and cause to be deported the estimated 3000 aliens illegally in this country; and . . . enactment of a law prescribing limitations of residence of aliens in our country who do not assume the obligations of citizenship."

Arcadia Couple Die in Wyoming

WHEATLAND, Wyo. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Annis, Arcadia, Cal., died last night of injuries suffered in an auto-truck collision five miles south of Chugwater, Wyo.

Two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Annis were in Wheatland hospital. Physicians said they would recover.

Officers reported the Annis automobile overturned when it collided with a truck driven by Donald Daffin of Laporte, Colo., while passing the truck. Daffin escaped injury.

PIRU FOREST FIRE UNDER CONTROL

600 Fighters Halt Threatening Blaze

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—Flames which swept over 1500 acres of forest and brush land in the Piru creek section were brought under control late yesterday.

The fire, starting yesterday, was halted after 600 men battled the flames along an eight-mile front during the night. Most of the fighters were recruited from Los Padres and Angeles national forests. Fifty additional men were sent to the scene at midnight.

The town of Piru, one of the richest citrus centers in the Santa Clara valley and the Hooper Canyon oil field were endangered by the advancing flames. Officials had feared the blaze would take a heavy toll of wild life.

A guard will be maintained for 48 hours as a precaution against further outbreak of the flames, officials said.

13th Collection on 'Deaths' Unlucky

SHEFFIELD, Eng. (American Wire).—Mrs. Elsie Ludlam is in jail here, firmly convinced that 13 is her unlucky number.

Twelve times, police declare, she reported relatives dead, and collected insurance on them. By some curious oversight, the insurance companies did not check on the check —but when Mrs. Ludlam came in last week to try to collect on a 13th relative—an uncle—it was too much, and an investigation was started—revealing that all the other 12 are hale and hearty!

Furthermore, it was discovered that Mrs. Ludlam in her get-rich-quick scheme, had taken out insurance on a total of 41 relatives. Today, she is starting a six months' jail term, following her plea of guilty of forging the death certificate for her unlucky 13th relative.

Denies Request of Markham Heir

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Superior Judge Charles S. Bunnell decreed yesterday that Public Administrator Forster H. Brown take control of the $1,826,000 estate of the late William F. Markham, air rifle manufacturer.

The court denied petitions of Harlan G. Palmer, Hollywood publisher and lawyer, and Mrs. Maude Lillian O'Brien of Detroit, Markham's daughter, each of whom sought letters of administration.

Markham died in 1930, leaving his estate to his widow, Mrs. Blanche C. Markham, during her lifetime, but providing that most of it go to Palmer's four children upon her death, which occurred recently.

Only Emerald Mine In Europe Opening

VIENNA, Austria. (American Wire).—Europe's only emerald mine, Habachtal, 7000 feet high in the Salzburg mountains, will be opened again, according to Schaffhausen & Co., its owners.

A new shaft is being sunk. If pure emerald crystals are found, the mine will be set going full blast for the first time since the last century. The mine was abandoned 50 years ago when the beautiful green crystals grew harder to find. The mine once was noted for its fine gems, many an inch in diameter.

Mistinguett Foils Ardent Admirer

PARIS. (AP)—Mistinguett, slim-limbed star of the Revue stage, repulsed an ardent admirer by locking him in her boudoir.

The intruder, a 30-year-old Rouen artist, was detained for investigation.

He burst into the apartment, she told police, declared his love for her and threatened to kill her if she spurned him.

Gendarmes said they found a revolver on him.

Income Balances Living Cost Rise

MINNEAPOLIS. (American Wire).—The woman of the house now spends $141.62 each month to maintain the same standard of living that she had in 1933 on $120 a month.

But she's able to balance her budget, because the family pay envelope has expanded to $147.23, according to a survey of the average family buying power made by a well known life insurance company.

$450,000 Bill for WPA Materials

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The cost of keeping relief workers busy is not alone the payment of salaries, but also includes materials totaling nearly $450,000,000.

The federal, state, county and local governments have sunk that much money in materials since WPA started, says Aubrey Williams, Harry Hopkins' deputy.

But, he adds, the federal government shouldered most of the burden, or about 59 per cent.

Stinging Bees Aren't Mad; They're Upset

ST. PAUL. (AP)—Bees that sting you aren't mad at you—they probably are irked by domestic troubles.

Dr. Mykola Haydak, bee culturist at University Farm, said today "bees ordinarily are very gentle. We are stung most often when they are aroused by troubles with other bees."

Dr. Haydak was stung 147 times when a swarm covering his arm was aroused by activities of others being "boxed."

DIVE FROM S. F. BRIDGE FATAL

OAKLAND. (AP)—Plunging 175 feet from the Oakland-San Francisco bridge, a man identified by highway patrolmen as Robert E. Starkey, 41, CCC educational adviser, died yesterday.

Captain J. S. Tarrett of highway police said he found three suicide notes in an automobile abandoned on the span. Tarrett said papers disclosed Starkey was graduated from Harvard university and had been a minister somewhere in Illinois. The city was not named.

Kisses by Wire Placed Under Ban

NEW YORK. (AP)—It looks like the end of kisses by telegraph.

A waggish New Yorker telegraphed a birthday kiss Tuesday to a friend vacationing at Atlantic City. James McGuigan, 17, who delivered it for "the honor of the service," received a dime tip from the surprised recipient.

But Mrs. Katharine Bleeker Meigs, director of the telegraph company's personal service bureau,

Million Given to S. F. Exposition

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt, by signing the third deficiency bill, made $1,500,000 available for federal participation in the Golden Gate International exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1939.

Indicated today no more kiss orders would be accepted. "Our messengers are such young boys it might lead to all sorts of difficulties," she said.

Lovers Urged to Become Detectives

SPOKANE, Wash. (American Wire).—Engaged people should turn detectives, Judge C. W. Greenough advised the men and women who sought divorces in his court this week. He said that those about to marry should investigate the person chosen, making a poll of his or her acquaintance, to determine if the chosen one was a good matrimonial risk.

Cruiser 'Honolulu' Launched at N. Y.

NEW YORK. (AP)—The navy's newest 10,000 ton cruiser, the U. S. S. Honolulu, was launched yesterday at the New York navy yard, Brooklyn.

Helen Poindexter, daughter of Joseph S. Poindexter, governor of Hawaii, broke a bottle of champagne against the prow.

The cruiser, 600 feet long, is equipped to carry 15 six inch guns, eight five inch anti-aviation guns and six airplanes.

RESUMPTION OF MEXICAN CLASS ASKED

Americanization Class Sought in Petitions

You can't keep a fire under the melting pot without fuel. That's why the Mexican people and their neighbors in the El Modena district are trying to find some way to finance their Americanization classes.

The Orange Union High school board, which has administered the work, with the exception board member, Joe Hancock, says the Americanization work is costing too much. But Miss Phillis Wannamaker, teacher, said the state allows the district $90 for each pupil attending a class of four hours a day for 180 days.

DISTRICT'S COST
This money, she said, comes from the state education fund. A state board of education member said a regular class of 15 adults would finance the entire adult education program. She estimated the cost of the district at about $500.

Americanization work among the Mexicans in the Orange region was discontinued a few years ago by the high board as an economy measure. But now residents of the El Modena district are launching a drive to get the work started again.

As a protest against discontinuance of the work, two petitions, each bearing 200 signatures, were presented the high school board early in the summer. One petition was signed entirely by Mexicans and the other by American residents of the district. Still another petition was presented by the Parent-Teacher association of El Modena.

NEW CAMPAIGN PLAN
Proponents of Americanization work have found a new spearhead for their drive. They have learned that the board may be forced to continue the work because of a state law which provides that if 20 non-English speaking adults petition for an English teacher, the local high school board must furnish such teacher. The first petition from the Mexican people asked only for continuance of the program, but another petition is being circulated. And this one asks for an English teacher.

The building used for classes in El Modena is owned and equipped by the Orange High school district. Miss Wannamaker not only teaches the Mexicans to speak English, but also instructs them in hygiene, health, home-making and assists them with personal problems.

FEW RELIEF CASES
It was pointed out that the community of El Modena has fewer Mexican people on relief, fewer cases requiring county hospital care and fewer cases for the police than any section in the county containing the same amount of Mexican population. These facts were learned from the county welfare department.

Elementary school districts of Orange, Olive and El Modena are willing to pick up the Americanization torch, it was said, provided money in the high school board treasury earned by attendance at the Americanization classes is turned over to them with which to carry on the work.

The elementary school boards feel that the small cost to them for the project will be offset by the improvement in social and economic condition of the Mexicans. It is possible that this plan may be used to continue the work, if a legal method can be found for the elementary districts to receive the daily attendance money, instead of the high school district.

Food Costs Up 43.5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Tip to housewives:

If hubby wants to know what's happening to the food allowance, write to the National Industrial Conference board for the dope on changes in the cost of living for wage earners.

For one thing, the board will tell you that food costs in July of this year were 43.5 per cent higher than they were in that dark spring of '33.

Village Takes Rest One Day in Summer

AMHERST, O. (AP) — When this village of 2800 population relaxes, it doesn't just make believe. It has no historic date to commemorate, so once each summer it shuts up shop and has a "picnic" just for the fun of it. All stores close, most of the housewives serve cold supper, and the town-folk spend the day participating in a parade and street games. This year some 2000 rural residents went to town to share in the sport.

Presidents' Wives All Conservatives

WASHINGTON. (American Wire) — Not for 30 years has there been a blonde mistress of the White House, and never has there been one with bobbed hair.

This was pointed out this week by M. Leon, French hairdresser to the White House for more than a quarter of a century as proof that the wives of American presidents, at least, remain strongly on the conservative side.

Santa Monica Tax Rate Is Slashed

SANTA MONICA. (AP) — Thanks to a surplus of $350,000 in the treasury, the city tax rate for next year will be but $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation, as compared with a $2.21 rate this year. The budget, adopted by the city council, provides for an increase of $300,000 for municipal expenditures.

Last year's budget allowed for a tax delinquency up to 35 per cent, whereas it was but 5 per cent.

76-Year-Old Man To Become Doctor

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass. (American Wire) — Mount Hermon school instructors tell of Dr. Henry Franklin Cutter, who retired as headmaster about five years ago and started a six-year medical course in Paris and Vienna. He will receive his M.D. degree next year—at the age of 76.

PICKETS STRIP TWO GIRLS

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Stripped of their clothing by striking women co-workers, two girl employees today fled in the nude to their home a few blocks away as violence was renewed here in the Gloversville Knitting company plant strike.

The girls, Julia and Elanda Gicenedo, sisters, were going to work when they were accosted by the strikers three blocks from the plant, a reporter for the Schenectady Union-Star, who was at the scene, said.

Others who left the plant during lunch hour were greeted by a barrage of tomatoes, the reporter said.

Pair Tied for Chess Honors

CHICAGO. (AP) — George N. Treysman and Charles Jaffe of New York were tied for first place as the American Chess Federation's championship tournament swung into its seventh round today.

Those two players, with Donald MacMurray of Chicago, stood qualified for the finals regardless of how they fare in today's competition. Treysman won his sixth straight victory last night, defeating D. H. Murrige of Washington, D. C., while Jaffe advanced at the expense of F. E. Devries of Chicago. MacMurray drew with B. B. PARIS. (American Wire) — Next in awakening to North Atlantic possibilities.

The French trial plane will make three round trip flights between the two continents and will follow, on different flights, both the Southern Azores route and Northern Newfoundland route.

French aviation circles have watched with interest and envy the successful trial flights of Pan American Airways and Imperial Airways, of U. S. and England respectively, to establish a regular commercial air route between Europe and the United States.

Despite the experience French aviation had obtained in South Atlantic air service, France was late

WANT A JOB? HERE'S HOW TO GET ONE

Expert Tells 7000
Ways to Find Work

SAN FRANCISCO. (American Wire)—There are 7000 ways to get a job and every one of them is right for someone, according to George R. Keith who for 22 years has conducted a non-profit, non-sectarian re-employment service in this city and elsewhere.

Keith regards job-finding as an art. An applicant to his bureau, known as Keith Approved, is directed to cultivate skill in job-finding, as if it were itself his profession.

MUST FIND SEVERAL

He is set to work to find, not just one job for himself, but as many jobs as he can find for himself and others.

The moment he starts doing this, says Keith, he is no longer unemployed. He is employed in the profession of job-finding. His job is to find jobs.

Keith says that the average applicant actually uncovers 11 jobs before he finds one which suits him and for which he is suited.

Keith is a man of wide and varied business experiences, now retired. When he was a student at McGill university, in Montreal, he made a hobby of finding jobs. That hobby is now his chief interest in life, but he refuses to take fees from job-seekers.

Keith distributes to colleges, churches and fraternal societies a booklet which gives 7000 various job-getting suggestions, and he's always looking for new and better ones.

PLENTY OF IDEAS

"There are millions of these ideas out in the business world," he says, "among the highly placed as well as among the rank and file."

"Millions have sought and got jobs in the past and proved their resourcefulness by their later careers."

"Usually, they utilized one or many unique angles of resourcefulness in their job-hunting or job-getting efforts."

"Job-seekers as a class need to be furnished with a wide, varied and constantly enlarged list of feasible job hunting and job-seeking ideas."

"Finding a job is creating one for all practical purposes, because finding things is about the only form of creating of which humans are capable, whether it be in physical science, mechanics or business."

"Each job filled creates an extensive chain of further jobs. It must be work that creates business, not business that creates work."

$2.75 'Ransom' Paid for Missing Granddaughter

SEATTLE. (AP)—C. N. McDonald had his 4-year-old granddaughter back home again today after paying $2.75 "ransom."

He left the little girl, Donna, in the back seat of his automobile when he dined at a restaurant last night. When he came out, auto and girl were gone. He told police Donna had been kidnapped.

Police said they were the kidnapers. McDonald had parked in a restricted zone. But the garage-man who towed the car away refused to release either car or girl until he was paid the $2.75 towing charge.

Noiseless Planes Credited to Nazis

VIENNA. (AP)—Austrian official circles are deeply stirred by reports that Germany has developed an almost-noiseless military airplane.

Fifteen such machine flew over the Tyrol late in July, reportedly on the way for shipment to Spain. Planes as big as these usually can be heard even when 12,000 feet up, by persons on the ground, but a detection apparatus, rushed from Vienna, could pick up only a faint whisper.

Russia Makes Play Of Lewis' Novel

MOSCOW. (AP)—The dramatization of Sinclair Lewis' novel, "It Can't Happen Here," has been picked by the newspaper, "Soviet Art," as worthy of production in Russia, with changes to make it conform with Soviet political philosophy.

"One fault," the newspaper said, "is that the hero of the play does not realize the only real force able to guarantee victory in the anti-fascist struggle is the workers' class and the communist party."

Hold Laborer on Shooting Charge

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Robert Mata, 25-year-old Delano, Cal., laborer, was held today for trial in connection with the fatal shooting of Carling M. Franco, 27, nephew of Vice President Sergio Osmena of the Philippine commonwealth.

A coroner's jury, which decided that Franco was slain last Sunday night during a street argument with four men, urged that three other members of the party of assailants be apprehended.

SPARKLER BURNS BABE

FIRST CHINA ELECTION UNDER WAY

Congressmen to Be Named on Nov. 12

By G. L. MEACHIM
NANKING, China.—A national election, the first in China's history, is under way, and workers, peasants, merchants and housewives are trooping to the polls to elect congressmen to the National People's Congress at Nanking on Nov. 12, birthday of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Even people from the "lost provinces" of Manchukuo are voting by mail and hope to get representation in the great assembly which is to signalize China's emergence as a real democracy.

THEORY VS. ACTUALITY

The theory is that the country has now finished her period of "political tutelage" under the Kuomintang party, an Oriental version of the Soviet Communist party. The public is now supposed to be sufficiently intelligent to take over the responsibilities of the party, and through congressmen chosen by free election formulate and enforce national policies.

Actually nothing of the sort will happen. The delegates, in the first place, are hand-picked by Nanking, and the congress will only sit for one month. The voice of the people will then be hushed for another year while Chiang Kai-shek and his machine rule the nation as they always have. But from Chiang's viewpoint the congress is a happy thing in that it will give disgruntled Communists and other factions the illusion of influence and will add to his already impressive public support.

SKILLED MANIPULATION

This election is a masterpiece in manipulation. Not only are delegates selected by the government, but even the voters are regimented. Theoretically, everyone of voting age is entitled to the ballot, but in fact only those who registered a year ago and obtained "citizens' certificates" by pledging allegiance to the Kuomintang and promising to support its policies by bearing arms, are recognized by the authorities. The others ostensibly have not proved their citizenship.

The delegates from Shanghai include, of course, all the political-gangster element, such as Doo Yueh-sen, Wang Hsiao-lai, Yuching and Lin Kang-hou, who act as the generalissimo's right arm in this wealthy metropolis.

NO FREE BEER

But even under these circumstances the novelty of an election arouses public excitement, abetted by radio speeches, distribution of handbills and band processions through the city. There was no free beer.

Striking modesty was exhibited in the declarations of the candidates. A typical handbill reads: "People's Mass Meeting is the purpose of uniting the Republic of China! Vote for Mr. Doo Yueh-sen, an intelligent and wise man." With his election in the bag, last reports had the illiterate Mr. Doo frantically studying writing so that he might be able to sign his name to any resolutions the congress may decide to pass.

Courtesy Cards For Visitors

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)—Out-of-town motorists get courtesy cards, not tickets calling for their appearances in court, for minor traffic violations.

"Do not worry about it this time," the card says, following the check mark to show what rule has been violated.

Then there is a paragraph to this effect: "The police department hopes you will enjoy your stay in Natchitoches, and that you will like us enough to come back often or come back to stay."

On the back of the tag appears a list of points of interest in Natchitoches.

Into the Ring

In New York City's election campaign has gone the hat of G. O. P. candidate Bruce Barton, author and advertising executive.

FEED NATIVES ON ALFALFA

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa. (American Wire)—Alfalfa, hitherto known only as cattle fodder, has been found by South African biologists to make an excellent and palatable vegetable for human consumption.

So important is the discovery that large-scale experiments have been started with the native workers in the gold mines of the Witwatersrand for the purpose of adapting it for use in their diets.

Dr. F. W. Fox, of the South African institute for medical research in Johannesburg, has recorded preliminary findings in a special report for the Transvaal chamber of mines. Three hundred thousand black employees are housed in great compounds under the control of the various companies.

These natives are brought from the kral to civilized areas to work underground. Their food is carefully supervised by government inspectors who take great pains to maintain the workers' health.

The edible part of alfalfa or "lucerne," as the plant is called in Africa, is in the tender shoot. It has been found that the leaves also can be cooked and eaten like spinach. Several hospitals have obtained excellent results through using alfalfa to counteract scurvy among natives.

Alfalfa grows where fresh vegetables are not obtainable in desert areas. Alfalfa grows nearly everywhere in southern Africa.

Boldog Earns Way Thru Walking Dogs

BUDAPEST. (American Wire.) Geza Boldog has a unique way of making a living. His profession is taking dogs for a walk.

Although his name may seem to indicate that he specializes in bull dogs, this is not the case. He walks bloodhounds, fox terriers, poodles and collies also.

He has 18 customers, but of course he can't take all 18 dogs walking at the same time. He staggers the walks so to speak.

Boldog, says Boldog, doesn't mean bull dog. It means "happiness." And he says he's very happy in his dog walking profession.

Fish Dropped in Lakes from Plane

EDMONTON, Alberta. (American Wire)—Successful experiments with restocking of small lakes with speckled trout from the air is reported by United Air Transport, Ltd. On one test, 1100 fingerlings were dipped out of cans with nets and dropped approximately 1000 feet from the air. A checkup revealed 95 per cent survived the fall.

Corner Motifs for Linens Prove Fascinating Needle-work

PATTERN 5215

Colorful morning-glories! Set them to blooming on your breakfast linens or on the daintiest of dotted swiss dresser scarfs. Just the flower's in applique with added embellishment in simple embroidery stitches—of course the entire motif may be worked out in embroidery. You can use up no end of gay scraps in this applique, for these morning-glories may be every color of the rainbow. In pattern 5215 you will find a transfer pattern of two 8½x8-inch corners, two 4½x6-inch corners, four 2-inch corners and pattern pieces for each applique patch; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Cash Prize Contest on at All Alpha-Beta Orange County Markets in Santa Ana

By A. "WILL" GERRARD

Starting next week the clerks of all Santa Ana Alpha Beta stores will enter into a contest to show the greatest volume increase over the same period last year. First prize will be $100 cash, second prize $50, and third prize will be $25. All of this money goes to the clerks.

I also wish to call to your attention the new push cart market baskets which we have installed in all of our stores, making it easier for you to do your shopping.

Last week, we announced Parking Courtesy Cards for the patrons of our East Fourth street store. This week you may also obtain these cards at our West Fourth street store to be used on our parking lot at the El Corral Service Station at 3rd and Birch Sts.

I want to introduce to you Ralph Eby, one of our most progressive store managers. Ralph is manager of our store at No. 2 at 318 W. 4th. He has been with the organization since July, 1931 and was in Anaheim prior to coming to Santa Ana. Eby is married and has three children. There is one thing that Ralph insists upon and that is courtesy and honest representation of merchandise.

GEN. FRANCO RUSHES AID TO ZARAGOZA

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, worried by the Spanish government's lousy drive near Zaragoza, was reported by insurgent sources today to be speeding a motorized column from conquered Santander to the Aragon front.

These reports said the column hurriedly packed up and rolled out of the Biscayan seaport which it helped occupy yesterday, leaving other brigades of Franco's 100,000 strong northern army to prosecute cleanup operations east and west of Santander.

The motorized force will be thrown against the Madrid-Valencia army in the northeast, where Zaragoza was being attacked from two directions, apparently in a government attempt to make up for the telling loss at Santander.

The insurgent communique itself admitted there was fighting on the Aragon front both north and south of the Ebro river. The Ebro flows past Zaragoza, one of Franco's important bases and one-time capital of the old Aragon kingdom. Franco's column on wheels had more than 200 miles to cover in its drive southeast from Santander to Zaragoza.

LOW FLYING BLAMED FOR BOYS' DEATHS

Driving down wind at too low altitude and misjudgment of distance were given as the cause of the Aeronca airplane crash resulting in the deaths of Ardel Sawyer and Harold Willis, Santa Ana youths, last Monday near Paulina.

This was the verdict of a coroner's jury when it deliberated at the Brown and Wagner funeral home yesterday. Coroner Earl Abbey conducted the investigation.

NO DEFECTS

Joe G. Hager of Eddie Martin's airport, where the Aeronca monoplane was stationed, testified the plane had no mechanical defects. The department of commerce conducted an investigation of its own immediately after the plane crashed in a beet field on Paulina road. E. R. Scroggie, a department investigator, said the plane evidently was flying at about 200 feet altitude. This is 300 feet lower than the 500 feet allowed by law over open country.

AUTO DEATH PROBE

Inquest into the deaths of James T. Holland, 23-year-old Anaheim boy, and Miss Irene Ava McKay, 17, Placentia, is to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Backs, Terry, and Campbell funeral home in Anaheim. Coroner Abbey announced. Holland and Miss McKay were killed instantly yesterday morning when their car crashed into a freight train on Crowther avenue in Placentia.

Acquit Mills in Frozen Fruit Case

Ed Mills, Anaheim citrus packer and a central figure in Orange county's frozen orange case, today had been freed on a criminal charge of shipping frozen fruit.

Justice of the Peace U. E. White of Pomona township found Mills not guilty yesterday afternoon, following submission of the case Tuesday. Mills was arrested on the Pomona charge as he stepped from the witness stand in superior court here last month after testifying in condemnation proceedings against 928 boxes of oranges which state inspectors said were badly frozen. The oranges finally were sent to an orange plant in Hollywood on stipulation of attorneys for both sides.

Mrs. Edith Moore Dies Here Today

Mrs. Edith B. Moore, 52, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 34 years, died at her home, 424 West Second street, at 10 a. m. today.

She was a native of Sioux Falls, Iowa, and moved to California in 1903. She was prominent in activities of the First Presbyterian church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. Moore is survived by her husband, Joseph R. Moore, and a sister, Mrs. D. P. Leonard, of Santa Ana. Funeral services will be announced later by Smith and Tuthill.

Hospital Sewage Plant Proposed

Construction of a sewer treatment plant for Orange County hospital would be a necessity should the city of Orange withdraw from the Outfall Sewer district, Dr. H. E. Zaiser, superintendent of the hospital said today. The estimated cost would be $350,000.

Nothing has yet been determined in regard to the hospital's future situation if Orange does withdraw from the district, Dr. Zaiser said.

It has been requested that negotiations be started in regard to the situation, Leo Sheridan, president of the Outfall Sewer district, announced. Reports regarding this situation may be made by the next meeting, Sept. 1.

Broken Window in Bank Starts Probe

Considerable excitement was caused in Orange this morning when the front window of the Orange Savings bank was found to be broken. Police were notified about 8 o'clock by Cashier Ben Burbaker when he reported for work.

Investigation revealed that nothing was missing and apparently no one had entered the building.

PAUL
WRIGHT

Charley Comstock, shortstop of the Santa Ana Stars in tonight, is the pesky Citrus Owl who threw the pass that defeated the junior college eleven, 7 to 6, at Poly field in 1933. . . . It was only blemish on the football record of Bill Cook's Dons in the drive to a Southern California championship.

The Dons' Eastern all-conference end, Handsome Fred Erdhaus, will leave next Wednesday to enlist with Coach "Tex" Oliver at the University of Arizona. . . . Bob Holmes, who played regular center on the Southland champion ship eleven here, of last fall, and Erdhaus will make the Tucson trip together.

An innocent single off the bat of Orville Schuchardt on his last trip to the plate on the regular schedule's last game—against Orange Tuesday night—cost Alvin Reboin, young football coach at Huntington Beach High, a wrist watch!

Reboin, it seems, was leading Joe Rodgers' Oilers in battling with Schuchardt his only regular competitor for the title offered by a Huntington Beach jeweler. . . . Orv's timely single shoved him into the lead by a few percentage points, paying extra money big dividends.

Armand Hanson, Santa Ana's promising young sports cartoonist, is a regular contributor of "The Sport Eye," national weekly published in Chicago. . . . He sold two full pages of sport art a few weeks ago, as reported in this department. . . . In this week's drawing, Hanson has a page of drawings of Babe Ruth, Col. Jacob Ruppert of the New York Yankees and Movie Actor George Raft, involved in negotiations to bring a Pacific Coast league franchise into Hollywood. . . . John Neubauer, the Fullerton scribe-cartoonist, also sold a full page of art on the "wrestling trust."

Predictions: Roger Larimer, sensational young right-hander, will not be firing in the National Orange Cuts in the National Nightball league next summer. . . . John Ward's Garden Grove eleven will cut a fancy figure in Orange league football this fall. . . . Huntington Beach will retain the National league softball title. . . . Ward's will win the City league crown from the Elks. . . . Brea will topple Irvine for the County league title.

The world's wrestling champion of yesterday, Joe Stetcher, is a victim of paralysis in a Minneapolis hospital. . . . His illness, it is claimed, was brought on by his many mat pursuits. . . . The records show that 41 wrestlers have died of injuries suffered on the mat in the last three years, the greatest casualty list of any sport except football and auto racing.

Los Angeles Gains Third Spot; Elks Square Ward Series, 7-4

MESNER HITS FIVE; ANGELS WIN, 6 TO 2

League-Leading Sacs Humble Missions By 11-3; Padres Cop, 1-0

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles was tied again with the San Francisco Seals for third place in the Pacific Coast baseball league today.

With the aid of Steve Mesner's five hits in five trips to the plate, the Angels gave the Oakland A's their second straight licking, 6 to 2, as Seattle broke into the win column for the first time in its series with the Seals to take a 3 to 2 decision.

Behind the two-hit pitching of Manuel Salvo, the San Diego Padres defeated Portland, 1 to 0. It was their first win of the current series.

The league-leading Sacramento out of seven Shaughnessy playoff series, winning 11 to 3 to hold its half-game margin.

Bunching hits and taking advantage of three Oakland errors, the Angels took an early lead and were never headed. Ray Thomas, Angel hurling ace, limited the Oaks to five hits, three of which were made by Ken Douglas, who opposed him on the mound.

Seattle ganged up on Sad Sam Gibson, the league's leading pitcher, to score all its three runs in the sixth inning when Hal Spindel, Dick Barrett, Art Hunt and Alan Strange singled.

Leroy Herrmann, one of the Missions most consistent winning pitchers, was lost to them for the balance of the season yesterday when he broke a thumb stopping a line drive from the bat of Nick Cullip.

HOLLY SUGAR WINS, 15-3

F. D. Shaw's Holly Sugar company coasted to a 15-3 victory over Placentia in the loser's field last night. Shaw pressed into service four pitchers—Henry and Frank Martinez, Roger Larimer and Elmer Smith—during the riot.

The Jones brothers of Placentia each collected a home run. . . . Holly Sugar at least two more games before closing the 1937 season.

BRONKO NAGURSKI Slams Bill Hanson For Mat Victory

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Bronko Nagurski, 235, Minneapolis heavyweight wrestling title claimant defeated Billy Hanson, 218, Omaha, Neb., with a series of tackles and a press after 20 minutes 5 seconds of wrestling in a one-fall, no time limit bout here last night.

FIVE BOXERS HIT CANVAS

Amateur Fights End Before Sprinkling Of 101 Arena Fans

Five knockouts—one a technical—brought to a conclusion amateur fighting before a sprinkling of fans at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

The Highway 101 will continue to sponsor wrestling—which has been drawing well on Monday nights—but Promoter Sam Sampson will keep his arena doors closed on Thursday nights until he gives professional boxing a trial here in October.

Babyface Shaw, clever-punching Los Angeles negro, failed to keep his main-event engagement, and Matchmaker George Stewart was forced to shove Babe Rosales of Placentia and Pete Martell of Los Angeles into the top spot. Rosales was getting slightly the better of it until Martell uncorked a right that sent Rosales to the canvas in the fourth round.

Jim Casino coasted to a four-round decision over Frank Grivallo, in the semi-windup. . . . Ed Morales assumed the "iron-man" role to knock out Harold Dragg in the second round, and to decision in an evenly-matched fight the colored Sterling McDaniel, who earlier in the evening had knocked out Paul Delano in the second round.

DEAN LOST TO CARDS AGAIN

'DIZ' FORCED BY SORE ARM TO QUIT TEAM

Serves Tow-Base Hit In Comeback, Giving Up in First Inning

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Neither could shed any tears over the fact that Dizzy Dean was on the way back to St. Louis with a sore "sloppone" that may keep him off the firing line long enough to pat the Cardinals' pennant hopes in the face with a spade.

And Frankie Frisch, the Cards' boss, who has no bed of roses at best—the Gas House Gang being what it is—found a couple of new gray hairs when he applied the comb to his scalp this morning.

CREAKY WITHOUT DEAN
Without Dizzy in there, the Cards have as much chance against Grimm's Cubs and Terry's Giants as a siren steak with a pack of hungry dogs. Short on pitchers even when they're at present and accounted for, it's a creaky machine with the great talker out of action.

So, when Dizzy served Leo Norris with a two-base ball to open the Cards' game with the Phillies yesterday, and then announced that his right arm—the most valuable piece of pitching bric-a-brac in the business—was on the fritz, the dark clouds overhead landed right in Frisch's lap.

On the way down, they washed out the second game of a scheduled doubleheader, after the Phils took the opener, 8-5, but by that time a tornado would have received no more notice from the St. Louis outfit than a mild breeze.

For when Dizzy walked out the fuff, Frisch ordered his big wind to pack up and head back home for immediate treatment of the ailing flipper.

Since every day he's away hands the Cards' chances another clout on the chin, the Messrs. Grimm and Terry heaved a mutual sigh of relief today and looked to the immediate business at hand—their battle for the National league lead.

JOE HITS 37TH HOMER
Both outfits had a day off yesterday, with old man weather washing out everything in the circuit but the Phils-Cards' clash, so both had a double on hand today. The Cubs had to get past the Boston Bees' artful fling to hold their two-game lead.

The Giants, still resembling hospital ward "A," opened an important four-game series with Pittsburgh's Pirates.

The American league landslide, on the other hand, begins to look more and more like one of those things as the days slip past and the Yankees' 10½ game lead looms as big as a mountain and as easy to cut down. The Yanks polished off the Browns, 5-1, yesterday with the aid of Joe Di Maggio's 37th homer, thereby eliminating the Browns from all mathematical hope in the pennant parade—not that they had much on April 20, at that.

Roxie Lawson singled with the bases loaded in the ninth to give his own game and give the Tigers a 6-5 decision over the Red Sox. A couple of ninth-inning hits also decided the White Sox 4-3 conquest of the Senators. Mel Harder breezed along to a 10-5 win for the Indians over the Athletics.

not only will be signed to fight Thursday night's winner, but will get his 30 cent.

Tommy Farr eats only English cooking, but is looking forward to sampling some American pie next Monday night, if his teeth are still there. They are betting here the "Carnival of Champions," set for next month, draws more than Louis and Fall. Another good bet is that Max Schmeling

Townsend News Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

Every Townsendite and all other citizens should hear Robb Adams in Santa Ana Birch park tonight at 7:30. Santa Ana Club No. 11 is sponsoring the meeting and has secured the Hurd-Lentz orchestra for a prelude of music. The entire city council has consented to attend and Mayor Fred Rowland will introduce the speaker. Loud speaking arrangements will be in use. Delegations are expected from other Townsend clubs in the county.

Tonight at 7:30, Judge L. F. Coburn will call Orange Club No. 2 meeting to order in the Townsend club building, 149 South Glassell street. Under the direction of Margaret L. Strong, "The Mountain" of Possum Trot Hotel from Pomona will furnish entertainment. This group never fails to put audiences in a jovial mood.

Santa Ana Club No. 10 is dismissing its meeting tonight to join in the Birch park meeting with Club No. 11. R. E. Marks, president, informed the writer.

W. B. Renne, energetic member of the Stanton club, was in Santa Ana Wednesday, transacting business. He paid a visit to Townsend headquarters and reported that the club is meeting every other Tuesday night in the homes of the members, with lively interest being maintained. He said contributions are being made monthly to the 19th district Townsend board fund.

The many friends of W. W. Middleton, 605 Victoria street, Costa Mesa, will be sorry to learn of his continuing to be very ill. He has been a very active booster for Townsend plan interests in his own community.

George A. Wright, Costa Mesa, son-in-law of District Manager J. H. Walsh and wife, and linotype operator for The Journal, is recuperating in the Mrs. Jessie Barnes home in Culver City after having been operated on last Saturday night in that city. Mrs. Barnes is a sister of J. H. Walsh. At last report he was making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

The meeting in Birch park Wednesday evening went well attended. A. M. Mapes acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Mary Herring was pianist and Judge A. Clarence Ruthe spoke. The meeting was followed by a concert given by the WPA band. The speaker deprecated the fact that while the first half of the 75th Congress accomplished nothing, which would aid the million of old folks in need nor give the needed opportunities to the young.

He suggested the probability of Arthur L. Johnson having been misled by political promises and beguiled into his alignment with the congressional group which claims to be actively supporting H. R. 4199, the Townsend bill. He indicated that he himself had doubts as to the likelihood of the present group in congress being willing to really go to town for the Townsend bill. He suggested that a partial reason for failure of the present group in congress to get very far with the Townsend legislation was because they hadn't really tried very hard.

He touched on the 1938 campaign possibilities by calling Senator William Gibbs McAdoo "Mr. Make-a-do" and suggesting he didn't care what happened to him. He suggested similar opposition to any candidacy Sheridan Downey might aspire to. The way the crowd applauded indicated its opinion were similar.

The Social Security act he described as a farcical attempt at providing social security. He told of secret plans in congress leading to an opportunity to amending the act but said when administration leaders found there were 640 different amendments ready to be presented, the idea was abandoned.

The principles of the Townsend plan he thought would necessarily receive more attention in the near future by business men. He told of a necessity which would soon exist of adopting transaction tax method of providing old age annuities. This would be inevitable, he said, because of the millions of folks who during this depression had slipped off the tax rolls of the nation never to return. When business men learned that they themselves would have to shoulder this load unless the Townsend plan was adopted they would be for it, he opined. He concluded his address by saying that eventually the nation would crown Dr. Francis E. Townsend as the one to whom should be given the glory and the honor for having crystallized sentiment favorable to old age annuities.

Steamboat Tooting Banned in Chicago

CHICAGO.—(American Wire)—The shrill and carnival sound of steamboats tooting on the little Chicago river no longer drown out the other sounds in downtown Chicago. The city council has ordered that hereafter bridge-tenders along the river must use their telephones to pass along the news that a vessel wishes to get through, and the pilots shall use their whistles only when it is necessary to give emergency warnings.

MAKE REPORT ON CHEMICAL SOIL TESTS

No chemical quick test method is suitable as a sole guide for judging crop adaptation and fertilizer requirements of soils in all localities and under all conditions, according to M. S. Anderson and W. M. Noble, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States department of agriculture.

Neither can any one test kit be regarded as the best under all conditions, according to their report to Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg here.

"Each has merit, but all vary in their applicability to particular circumstances," they said. "Seven tests kits and several laboratory methods, compared on widely diversified soils, varied in the diagnosis of soil constituents and soil needs."

"For years agriculturists have sought chemical means of determining the available portion of phosphorus, potassium, and sometimes other elements in the soil. Many methods have been used with varying success. Equipment for carrying out several of these tests has been arranged in compact commercial test kits that may be operated by persons of limited training."

"State agricultural experiment stations have found quick chemical tests valuable in diagnosing soil needs when the results have been interpreted by trained agronomists. These stations, however, possess more information than the average person would have regarding the responses of various crops grown on different local soils after applications of fertilizers. There is no proof that quick tests will be valuable to a person in a particular locality, but they are thought to be of value under certain circumstances, particularly to one who likes to make practical field or garden experiments."

BUOY REPLACES LIGHT SHIP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(American Wire)—Life in the lighthouse service is tough—too tough aboard the lightship Handkerchief, because ships were in a habit of running into it.

Because of this nasty little habit of coast-wise mariners, the lightship has been taken out of Vineyard sound and a lighted bell buoy has taken her place.

H. W. Rhodes, U. S. superintendent of lighthouses and lightships, issued a precautionary warning to mariners asking them to please refrain from running down lightships. The warning was called forth due to several instances of such vessels being rammed side-swiped and otherwise molested by sea-going vessels on dark nights with low visibility.

The lightship Handkerchief was banged into so often that the crew was forced to sleep with life jackets on ready to leap over the side to safety. A particularly dangerous course is necessary on rounding the lightship in Vineyard sound, which, coupled with asserted careless navigation on the parts of various ship's officers, is regarded as the chief reason for the Handkerchief's unfortunate experiences.

Hereafter, mariners who once seemed to delight in bumping into the Handkerchief will have only the clanging of a bell in protest to their invasion of the Handkerchief's erstwhile anchorage.

Electricity May Cure Insomnia

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R. (American Wire)—Electricity may be used as a cure for sleeplessness, experiments on frogs and himself by Prof. G. Kalendarov, famous Russian biologist, indicate.

His method is an extension of the scientific knowledge that electricity can be used as a substitute for local anaesthetics. Professor Kalendarov first used frogs to determine whether electricity could produce complete and harmless sleep.

An electrode was connected to the frog's head, and another to the base of its spinal column. When the current was turned on the frog fell asleep immediately, awakening, apparently unharmed, when the electricity was turned off.

After further tests, the professor tried the experiments on himself. He awoke as soon as the current was switched off. He told assistants that he had experienced "only slight discomfort" before going to sleep.

No bad after-effects developed. Russian hospitals are now testing "electric sleep" on patients afflicted with insomnia. Doctors believe it will also be of great help in giving patients a long and drugless sleep after a major operation.

Advertise Poker In Montana

HAMILTON, (AP)—Shades of Poker Pete and Black Jack Bill! A sound car travels the streets of Hamilton telling the world that a poker game is in progress at such and such a beer parlor. And there's a glass of free beer with each stack of chips.

Poker Pete and Black Jack Bill relied on the grapevine for a silent call to disciples of the gaming tables. But now Ravalli county licenses the tables and gambling can take up big time advertising methods.

Fast Times of American Trains Praised in Report

NEW YORK. (American Wire)—The fast time made by American trains and how they are progressively bringing all sections of the nation closer together are not generally realized by the public, according to a recent report of the Association of American Railroads.

The report showed that more than 400 daily passenger trains, covering in excess of 19,000 miles a day, are operating on scheduled runs of 60 miles an hour or more, as compared with 30 such trains totaling 1100 miles a day in 1930.

The latest compilation of Railway Age arranged 100 fast runs of American and European trains in 15 groups according to the mile-age traveled by each. American trains were first in 12 of the 15 groups, second place in 14, third place in 14 and fourth place in 13.

The fastest of the long-distance trains now spans 100 miles between Chicago and New York in 16½ hours, instead of the 20 hours formerly required by express trains.

Freight service has speeded up, too. Freight moves on passenger schedules. Merchandise is now moved to its destination overnight up to distances of 400 miles.

England to Ban Horse Exports

LONDON. (American Wire)—The exportation of horses bill, recently passed by the house of lords, will come into force Oct. 1. The bill prevents the export of any but young horses whose value is sufficient to guarantee them careful treatment.

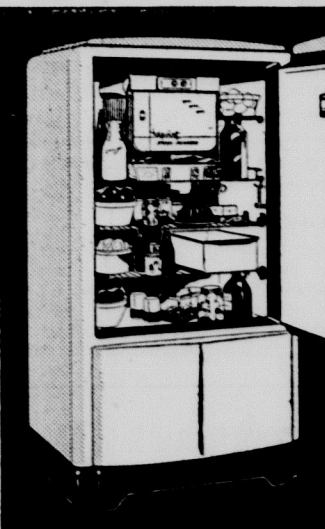

In the past, old and disabled horses have been shipped to the continent alive because it was cheaper to move them under their own power. The old English horses are usually slaughtered for meat.

PAY BOOST LOOMS FOR COUNTY EMPLOYEES

ACTION WILL BE TAKEN
ON TUESDAYCommittee to Report
To Supervisors

Supervisors of Orange county may ask the state legislature to raise their own salaries.

This was learned today from an authentic source, as members of the board planned to bring the county employees' salary question to a head either next Tuesday or the following week.

Not only do the supervisors consider asking that their monthly pay of $212.50 be increased somewhat, but they plan to recommend some increase for all elective officials of the county, it was learned.

ACTION BY WEST

Recommendations for increases in the salaries of the district attorney and county auditor must be made to the state legislature. The board controls salaries of other elective officials.

Supervisor N. E. West, who with Supervisor John Mitchell has made an exhaustive study of the county salary situation, will recommend an increase in salaries that will mean an average of about a five per cent raise for the 600 employees.

It was pointed out that the entire salary program is one of adjustment. Pay of some employees in the higher brackets will be reduced, and pay of those in lower brackets in many cases will be increased.

EFFECTIVE SEPT. 1

Some will get increases ranging from 10 to 15 per cent, if West's recommendations are carried into practice.

The schedule would be effective as of Sept. 1 for the general county employees. Salaries of elective officials cannot be changed during the term of office.

There will be three rates of pay, based on length of service to the county, ability and type of employment.

Young Speakers to Present Sermons

Four local young people will present a special young peoples' meeting in the Foursquare church, Fairview and Sycamore streets, at 7:30 p. m. under the direction of Miss Mildred Eckwall, president of the youth group.

Short sermons will be delivered by Everett Claypool of Orange on "Salvation", Miss Bessie Anderson on "Service", John Haskell on "Heaven" and Miss Georgia Williams on "Hell".

600 Fight Piru
Forest Fire

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—Back-firing was attempted yesterday to help the sweep of flames along an eight-mile front in Reasoner creek canyon north of Piru.

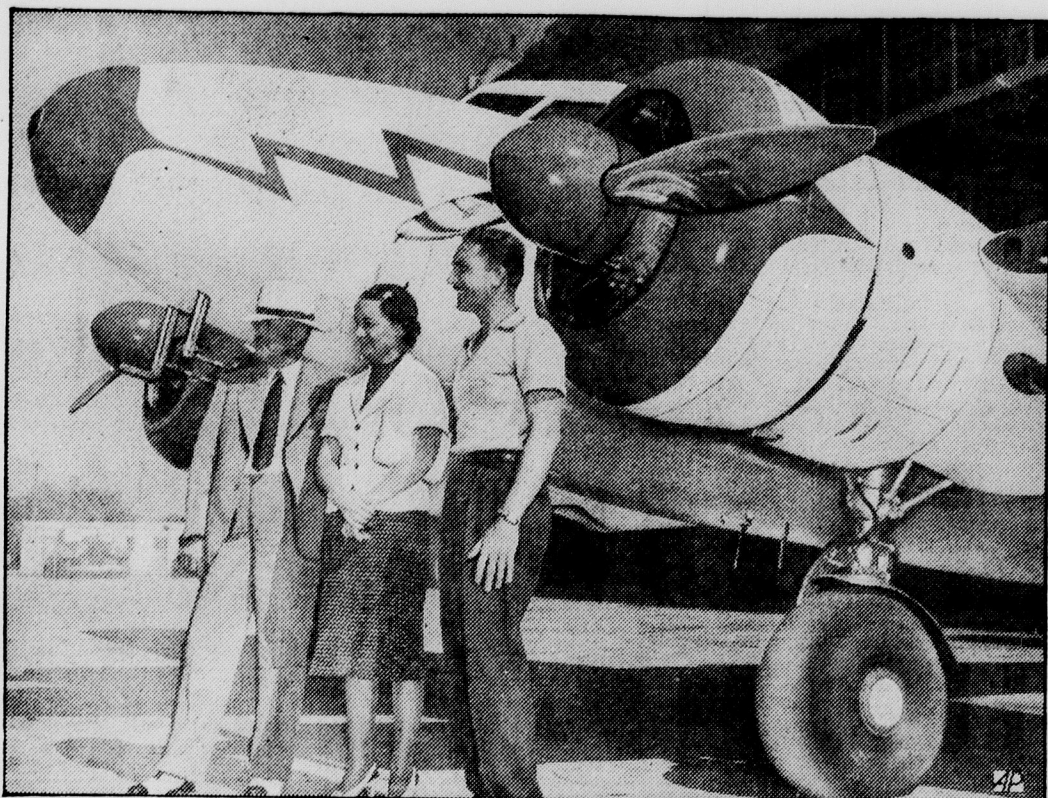

Driven by a fresh east wind, the blaze destroyed a 1000 acre tract of brush and hardwood trees at the edge of Los Padres national forest last night.

Billowing smoke clouds were visible at Santa Paula, 14 miles away. Rangers directed a force of 600 men.

NEW CHURCH
TO BE READY
BY NOVEMBERContractor to Finish
Building Oct. 1

Construction on the new First Presbyterian church, Sixth and Sycamore streets, is progressing rapidly, and the building will probably be ready for occupancy early in November, it was announced today.

M. B. Youel, chairman of the building committee, indicated today that it may be ready by the first Sunday in November. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor, corroborated this belief. It might be ready by the middle of October, but this is unlikely, Youel said.

Work on the outside of the building is nearing completion, but much remains to be done on the inside, it was explained.

TO INSTALL ORGAN

Jules Markel, contractor, indicated that his part of the work, consisting in the actual construction of the church, is expected to be finished by Oct. 1. After this work is done, a new organ and other equipment will be installed.

New pews and other furnishings will be installed in the new building which, when done, will have cost nearly $70,000. The building has been constructed with parts of the old church as a foundation.

More than 900 people will be accommodated in the auditorium, which will have folding doors so that they may be moved when desired, and 150 more people can sit in the foyer.

OTHER FEATURES

Other features of the new building which have attracted wide attention include a new dining room, a new kitchen, a women's parlor, 10 additional Sunday school rooms, a minister's study and two choir rooms.

Members of the building committee are A. A. Allen, Steven Griest, F. A. Henderson, Oscar Witt, Mrs. C. H. Baird, Miss Eugenia Gilbert, Mrs. Ruth Curry, Harvey Baer and Chairman Youel. On the finance committee are

MAN IN FIGHT
WITH LEOPARDTom Bell Attacked on African Hunting Trip

Tom Bell, 48, former superintendent of the Petroleum Securities company at Huntington Beach, was seriously mauled and bitten by a leopard in Portuguese East Africa, where Bell is now residing, according to information received by friends at Huntington Beach. The attack occurred on a recent hunting trip.

Bell, who is employed by the Ingamingo Petroleum of Ingamingo, Portuguese East Africa, was hunting with four companions. Bell flushed the leopard and was hunting the beast when it stalked him and sprang out on his back, knocking him down.

Bell's companions had to literally fight the leopard away from the man, as the hunters feared to shoot the cat while it was on him. The leopard finally was driven away and Bell was taken to the company hospital, where he is said to be in a very serious condition.

Bell's wife resides in Long Beach and his sister, Mrs. Steck, works in a cafe in Balboa. Mr. Steck, former employee of the John H. Marion oil enterprises in Huntington Beach, died more than a year ago. Andy Jauman, oil driller of Huntington Beach, received news of the leopard's attack on Bell which occurred about a week ago, Jauman stated.

1 When you see members of your family looking tired and "down-in-the-mouth"—unable to meet the added drag of hot days—the cause may be constipation.

2 The most common type of constipation is due to meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Try serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily and see how quickly the condition is relieved.

3 Send him off to the office with a spring in his stride—ready to lick the day's job—no matter how hot the weather. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity.

RIGHT NOW, grocers are featuring a special that may help you face these hot, humid days without discomfort!

Common constipation makes the heat of summer twice as hard to bear. To keep well and energetic when it's 90° in the shade, you need to be fit inside as well as out. Get a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN from your grocer and serve this laxative food regularly for regularity.

In addition to "bulk," ALL-BRAN supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Patio Dinner Is Given By Koepsels

As one of the charming parties held in the outdoor patio of the Margaret Suddaby home on Lemon Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Koepsel entertained at a delightful steak bake prepared over the new outdoor grill of the home.

All the guests were seated at a single table which was gay with brightly-colored pottery and centered with a low bowl of pompon zinnias. Hand-painted gourds raised by Mr. Koepsel completed the Mexican touch.

Following the outdoor dinner, the group went inside for an evening of contract bridge. There they found many vivid bouquets of large zinnias from the gardens used as decorations. At the close of play Mrs. Koepsel served a dessert course to her guests.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. John Daneri, Mrs. George Rice, and Mrs. Elwood Bear, for first, second, and low in the women's group, and to John Daneri and Jesse Elliott for high and consolation among the men.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. John Daneri and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Guilbert of San Juan Capistrano, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Shrewsbury of Laguna, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brannen and Mrs. A. N. McWilliams of Riverside, and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Elliott, Mrs. Elwood Bear and Mrs. George Wright of Santa Ana.

MRS. HARDCASTLE IS HOSTESS AT DINNER PARTY

Winding up her year as captain of the champion drill team of the American Legion auxiliary in gala style, Mrs. Rosann Hardcastle entertained at a delightful dinner party last night, complimenting her officers and incoming officers.

Her guests were seated for dinner at two tables decorated with lovely red and white asters and dahlias, and later held a business meeting, at which time Mrs. Geneva Walsh was elected business manager; Mrs. Tona Sandon, secretary, and Mrs. Fay Minnix, treasurer. The new captain will not be named until later.

A pleasant feature was the prize shower of handkerchiefs given to Mrs. Evelyn Inhoff, whose birthday anniversary it was. Assisting Mrs. Hardcastle in serving and in arranging the beautiful bowls of amaryllis, blue lilies, and Queen Anne's lace that decorated the living room were Mrs. Myrtle Swarthout and Miss Margaret Hardcastle.

Guests present were the Mesdames Ruth Anderson, Grace Carahan, Alice Dodder, Inez Halber, Evelyn Inhoff, Ann Leif, Roberta Mercer, Fay Minnix, Emma Penn, Tona Sandon, Frances Jones, Myrtle Swarthout, Sue Featherly, Grace Sisson, Alta Marsile, Miss Gladys Young and Miss Margaret Hardcastle.

LOCAL PEOPLE GO TO WEDDING

Early this week, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McFadden, Flora and Robert, 1108 North Main street, were guests at the wedding ceremony and reception of their nephew, William K. Calkins of Inglewood, which was held in Redlands.

Miss Ramona Moore was the bride, and the rites were read in the Redlands First Methodist Episcopal church. Robert McFadden attended the groom as an usher. Others from Santa Ana attending the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Walker, and children Hugh and Mary Lee.

LASBYS RETURN FROM ROUND-WORLD TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, 315 East Seventeenth street, who arrived in Santa Ana early this week after a trip around the world, celebrated their return with a small family gathering last evening, in their home.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lasby were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lindsay and their small daughter Sharon from Los Angeles and Miss Marjorie Lindsay.

The last foreign stop of the Lasbys was London, from where they toured Scotland and rural England for two weeks. They sailed from Southampton on the S. S. Empress of Britain, landed in Quebec, and went to Chicago by train.

They visited relatives of Mrs. Lasby, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McKinley in Belleville and Mrs. William Stephenson in Tilden while stopping in Illinois.

Miss Lindsay spent July and August with Mrs. McKinley in Belleville and at their summer home at Chataqua, Ill., and returned to California with the Lasbys.

STEAK BAKE GIVEN AT PARK

Gathering for an informal evening, a small group of friends held a steak bake in Santiago park early this week. They spent the remainder of the evening chatting.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stump, Jr. and Mrs. Luther Ray and Karen, Miss Esther Coffman, Miss Ethel Coffman, Miss Mabel Cole, Mrs. Minnie Cole, Mrs. Louis Rorman, and son Donald, Miss Helen Klein, Mrs. Paul Matthews and sons Robert and Donald who are visiting here from Indianapolis, Ind., with Miss Klein.

Two Affairs Entertain Visitors

Adding to the delightful affairs which have filled the entire visit here of Miss Louise Pearce and Mrs. O. F. Freeman, two very lovely bridge parties yesterday again complimented the widely-feted guests.

Mrs. Henry Wagner entertained for the two guests at Bit of Scandia in Fullerton for luncheon, with a bridge session in her home following. The luncheon table was centered with a low bowl of pink flowers and tall pink tapers.

Adjourning to the Wagner home on South Placentia street, Anaheim, the guests found it decorated with many baskets of summer flowers, among them bouquets of zinnias which were the gift to the hostess of Mrs. Frank Latham. Bath accessories were the prizes with Mrs. Milton Freeman of Pomona taking high score and Mrs. George Clark of Pasadena low.

Guests of Mrs. Wagner were Miss Pearce and Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Don Mozley, Mrs. Ray Wolven, Mrs. Herbert Allenman, Mrs. Milton Freeman of Pomona, Mrs. George Clark of Pasadena, Mrs. David Ragan and Miss Alice Ragan of Van Nuys, Mrs. Frank Latham, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, Mrs. Delbert Liggett and Mrs. Bert Miles.

Last evening, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, in entertaining members of her bridge club, filled out an extra table and again complimented the Eastern visitors. Joining Miss Pearce and Mrs. Freeman as guests were Mrs. Henry Wagner, of Anaheim and Mrs. Forest Whitson.

A dessert course was served at small tables centered with small pink asters and matching pink favors late in the evening. Prizes in the bridge play went to Mrs. Ned Hayes for high, Mrs. Frank Latham for second, and Mrs. Freeman for guest prize.

Members present for the club session were Mrs. Latham, Mrs. Olin Turner, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Delbert Liggett, Mrs. Don Mozley, Mrs. Herbert Allenman, Mrs. Ray Wolven and Mrs. Elliott.

VISITORS AT PATTONS' ARE HONORED

A popular summer visitor in Santa Ana for many years is Mrs. Harold Nelson of Tampa, Fla., who has been the house guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Patton, since early June. With her has been her son, Ward Nelson.

Since the arrival of Mr. Nelson on her last day, many delightful little courtesies have been arranged in their honor, among them dinner parties at the home of Miss Louise Tubbs, Miss Gertrude Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Helms, and Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Tubbs, while last night they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Means to a Los Angeles night club.

Mrs. Nelson and Ward will join Mr. Nelson in about ten days, after he completes a business trip to San Francisco, and the three will return to their Florida home.

TWO HOSTESSES ENTERTAIN AT BENEFIT PARTY

Mrs. Adelaide Lowe and Mrs. Frank Lansdown entertained yesterday at a pleasant party given to benefit St. Elizabeth's guild of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah. The affair was at the Orange avenue home of Mrs. Lowe, where a dainty pink and yellow scheme was carried out.

First and second prizes at contract went to Mrs. Glenn S. Warner and Mrs. William Wollaston, and at auction to Mrs. Wilbur Getty and Miss Minnie Besser.

Present were the Mesdames Marshall Keeler, Fred Anderson, William Wollaston, Wilbur Getty, Preston Turner, Ira Mercer and E. F. Matthews, Rose Johnston, Elton Holmes, Charles Swanner, Miss Minnie Besser, Miss Elizabeth Payne, Miss Susan Cloyes, Miss Minnie Daniels of Phoenix, and Mrs. William Fleming also of Phoenix.

TWO BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED AT STEAK BAKE

Collaborating as co-hostesses, Mrs. Walter F. Sorensen and Mrs. Harold Bullock planned a picnic at Irvine park recently to compliment their husbands on their birthday anniversaries.

The celebration, which is held annually by the two families, took the form of a steak bake served to Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen and Harold and Walter Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bullock of 714 South Ross street and daughters, Marian and Dorothy.

Following the dinner, the group went to the Sorensen home, 2024 Valencia street, where a huge birthday cake was ready to serve during the dessert course. Gifts were presented to the honor guests.

Local Girl Is Married In Louisiana

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Majors today announced the wedding of their youngest daughter, Mary Emil, to William Joseph King, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. King of Shreveport, La., and grandson of Judge and Mrs. A. S. Stagg.

The popular young Santa Ana miss has been the house guest of her maternal aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kendrick of Shreveport, since May first, and her romance with the Louisianan dates from that time, for the two families have been intimate for many years.

The ceremony was performed August sixteenth in beautiful St. Mark's Episcopal church, with the bridegroom's uncle, the Rev. S. B. Lines, officiating. Miss Majors wore a picture frock of icicle blue net over tulle, made basque style, and with a gold lame halo on her head. She carried sweetheart roses, gardenias, and lilies of the valley.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Mary Catherine Torrance, whose long frock was of tearose lace, accented by gold clips that were given her by the bride, and a picture hat of blue swiss braid.

Lloyd Kendrick gave his niece in marriage, and Mr. King was attended by his brother, Laurence King. Immediately following the ceremony which was unusually lovely in the church setting of lighted cathedral tapers and magnolia blossoms, a reception was held at the Kendrick estate, "Donnybrook," the family home of the late Captain and Mrs. William Dillon Woodworth, parents of Mrs. Majors and Mrs. Kendrick.

Here on August tenth had been held a formal garden party at which the wedding date had been revealed by Mrs. Kendrick and her niece, and this too had particular significance, since August tenth is the birthday anniversary of the bride, and she had been born in that same home just 21 years before.

Mr. and Mrs. King enjoyed a week's honeymoon in New Orleans, and are now at home at 2763 Herndon avenue in Shreveport, where the bridegroom is credit manager for the Big Chain Wholesale Grocery Co. He attended the Gulfport Military academy and Louisiana State college, while his bride attended both Santa Ana and Long Beach junior colleges. For her going-away costume she wore a smart ensemble of Wallis blue crepe with navy accessories.

The parents of the bride are anticipating a visit from their daughter later in the fall, at which time she and Mrs. Kendrick plan to drive to the coast for a brief trip.

DOROTHY RYAN SAILS FOR ISLAND WEDDING

Sailing at noon today from Wilmington on the S. S. Malolo, was Miss Dorothy Ryan of Brigham, Utah, who has been a student at Santa Ana Junior college for the past year and a half.

Upon her arrival in Honolulu, Miss Ryan will become the bride of Herman F. Busch, Jr., of Honolulu during formal rites to be performed Sept. 4. For her wedding ceremony, Miss Ryan will wear a blue-eyed or brown-eyed, fair or plump, or little or big. She had gone away before the first cries of life came from the fragile three-pound infant. She doesn't know even that there was a child.

Graduate Nurse Questions What Society Will Do for Post-Mortem Babies

A graduate nurse writes about an interesting subject—"The Death Baby."

Looking into the future, she points out that the miracles of modern surgery and medical science will undoubtedly score again and again and be more successful in saving the lives of other babes, similarly born. "But doesn't this impose a new duty on society?" she asks.

"What will society do to prove that science is justified?" Dear Miss Stoddard:—Perhaps I am more interested in the Boccawinski case than the average reader, or perhaps the majority, and that is one reason I write this note to you. I feel that society at large should be interested.

You see, I am a graduate nurse, and work constantly with children.

If mothers talk about their children in some great beyond—and certainly if memory serves them they will—we wonder what Mrs. Mary Boccawinski can contribute to the stories they tell.

She is the mother who died before her baby was born, the mother who lay unconscious faced with inevitable death, while medical science prepared to save the baby to whom she could not give birth.

She can't say that her child was blue-eyed or brown-eyed, fair or plump, or little or big. She had gone away before the first cries of life came from the fragile three-pound infant. She doesn't know even that there was a child.

Former Santa Anan Feted At Party

Mrs. Robert Hull of Alhambra, the former Miss Julia Thorndike of Santa Ana, was honor guest at a delightful party last evening given by Mrs. Roy Armstrong of Alhambra, and attended by many local matrons.

The party was designated as a blue baby shower, and the hostess carried out all appointments in that delicate color, with tiny storks topping nuptials and place-cards, and delphinium and fern in the center of the tables.

Late in the evening a blue basset filled with dainty packages wrapped and tied in blue was presented Mrs. Hull, and first and second high score prizes were awarded Mrs. Francis Norton of Santa Ana and Miss Alice Wisnamm of Alhambra.

Present at the affair were Miss Lucy Holmes, Mrs. Robert Goetting, Mrs. Francis Norton, Mrs. Max Wilson, Mrs. Charles McDaniell, and Mrs. A. Thorndike, mother of the honoree, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Paul Grand and Mrs. Clarence Melber of Santa Monica, Miss Norma Richardson of South Pasadena, Mrs. Howard Butler and Mrs. Dale Hammond of San Marino, Mrs. Albert Tisnerat (Elfa Thorndike) of Corona, Mrs. Harold Vieira of Fullerton, Mrs. Roland Bookless and Mrs. Milton Wisnamm of Los Angeles, Miss Wisnamm of Alhambra, and Mrs. A. B. Purcupol, mother of the hostess.

GOLDEN STATE CAMP INSTALLS OFFICERS

New officers were installed in the Golden State camp, Royal Neighbors of America, Wednesday evening during a special meeting conducted in the Knights of Columbus hall by Mrs. Nellie Baker, oracle.

Mrs. Flora Dolbee as installing officer and Mrs. Hart Pennington as marshal installed Mrs. Margie Boyd, recorder; Mrs. Maxie Wilson, receiver; and Miss Audrey Steele, assistant marshal.

Plans were discussed for card parties to be held in the homes of members, and a bazar and carnival to be held in October. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pearl Garr, I. Pennington, and Ray Boyd.

Iced Foods Not Really Cooling

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.
Heat must be overcome before it overcomes us. A serious case of heat cramp or heat prostration damages the entire system and lengthy convalescence is needed.

There is probably no greater fallacy than to think that a "nice, cool drink" will solve the problem. I do not understand the folks who haunt soda fountains and ice cream counters.

Sometimes we doctors can control a too-generous appetite by allowing plenty of ice cream. But to say that iced foods and drinks really cool you off is stretching the truth, however grateful the temporary relief may be. Drinking too much liquid of any sort is not good. Perhaps, you have noticed a sense of fullness after drinking even plain water, if it is repeated too often. That means that the tissue cells that have retained their salt content are attracting the liquid and congesting.

Which reminds us to say that you should take more salt in hot weather. If you don't care for salt water, put an extra amount on your food—even twice as much as you would normally use. Don't forget to taper off when cool weather comes.

The salt habit, like many good things, can be overcome. It will pay you to put some extra study on what sort of food is really productive of heat during digestion. We need our proteins, the lean meats and legumes, when we need body heat as in cold weather. In hot weather, they provide just that much more heat to be disposed of and if you want to be kind to yourself you will leave them out of your summer dietary.

Start On Summer Bulges Now

By JACQUELINE HUNT
Perhaps you haven't started your fall shopping yet, but when you do you may be surprised at the number of bulges that your figure has taken on since spring. Start with exercises for the hips. One of the easiest is also most effective. Lie flat on your back on the floor, arms stretched out at shoulder level. Relax your legs a little, but keep them together. Now roll your hips from left to right and back again, swinging from the waistline, but keeping the shoulders pressed flat against the floor. Repeat 10 to 20 times.

Now sit up, cross-legged, like the picture of the little tailor in the child's story, and lean back a little with your weight balanced on the fleshy part of your hips, rock from side to side. Hold the position for 30 seconds. Repeat with your weight balanced on your knees and then bend forward from the hips and waistline, resting your head on your arms. This position relaxes and stretches the muscles of the upper back. Now slowly rise, straightening your back and arms, lifting your body again to your knees and bending the head and spine backward. The arms should be lifted to shoulder level and pushed backward as you rise to the kneeling position. Bend forward again, repeating several times.

The unsightly roll of flesh at the back of your neck usually comes from poor posture. Your shoulders and upper back have grown stiff and fatty from lack of exercise. Kneel on the floor, sit back on your heels and then bend forward from the hips and waistline, resting your head on your arms. This position relaxes and stretches the muscles of the upper back. Now slowly rise, straightening your back and arms, lifting your body again to your knees and bending the head and spine backward. The arms should be lifted to shoulder level and pushed backward as you rise to the kneeling position. Bend forward again, repeating several times.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS COMPLIMENT GUARDIAN

Members of Job's Daughters complimented their guardian, Mrs. W. J. Dean, Wednesday evening when they turned their brief bows meeting into a birthday celebration in her honor.

As a gift from the entire bethel, Mrs. Dean was presented with a lovely table mirror by Miss Mary Crowe, honored queen. Plans for the joint picnic of De Molays and Job's Daughters held in Irvine park last evening were completed during the meeting. Announcement was made that the next meeting of the bethel to be in the Temple Sept. 8 will honor all members whose birthdays are in June, July, August, and September.

Low Price Meat Dishes Necessary

By JUDITH WILSON
What can you do when the price of meat and staples goes higher every week and your food budget remains the same? There is only one thing you can do, serve less expensive meat dishes and make your other courses so attractive that steaks, chops and big roasts of beef will not be missed.

Braised Short Ribs
3 pounds short ribs of beef
1 tablespoon salt
Pepper
5 medium sized onions
5 medium sized turnips
1 bunch carrots
2 cups water
10 small potatoes

Have the meat cut into pieces for serving, rub with the seasonings and lay in a baking dish. Set into a hot oven and sear on all sides for 30 minutes. Add the water, cover closely and bake for 1 hour. Add the whole pared vegetables and the seasonings. Continue baking until the vegetables are tender. Serve the meat on a platter, garnished with the vegetables and small sprigs of parsley.

Veal Fricassee
2 pounds shoulder of veal
3 tablespoons butter or shortening
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
3/4 cup boiling water
1/2 cup strained tomatoes, fresh or canned
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
Pepper to taste

Slice the meat for serving. Melt the fat in a heavy skillet, add the pieces of meat and cook until nicely browned on all sides. Remove the meat from the skillet, add the onion and pepper and cook slowly until golden brown. Return the meat, add the water, strained tomatoes, and seasonings. Cover tightly and simmer slowly until the meat is tender. Serve in the center of a platter surrounded by a border of buttered noodles or rice.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

HOLLYWOOD.—Brutal frankness is the keynote of the first dramatic criticism movie aspirants receive. It is fortunate for the ego of many of them that they never see these confidential reports on their screen tests passed around to executives from day to day.

These samples, minus names, will indicate what you, if you are a prospective screen tester, may expect in the way of a report: "Miss X—Ingenua, about 20, blonde. Doing a scene with Miss Y. Clean-cut looking young lady, but unfortunately no depth to her reading of dialogue. High-pitched voice that carries no weight and gets monotonous. Miss X is hardly ready for the demands we might have for her."

GETTING PERSONAL
"Miss Y—Well set-up brunette with swell personality. Unfortunately Miss Y has a difficult profile for the camera. Sort of pug nose, but she has personality and can develop into a comedienne. Miss Y is worth a trial for the bits she can do. Not hard to look at, but the nose difficulty takes her out of the beauty class. See the test please."

"Mr. X—Dark juvenile with a gal named Miss Z. Two people romping through a scene as though they were just there for the day and brought their lunch to fill in a gap. The Z gal is a buxom lass who has nothing. No interest."

"Miss A—In some scenes for a current production. Unfortunately Miss A did not look so well in these tests photographically. The scenes asked the gal to give more than she had."

Which says that even with a contract you haven't arrived at perpetual orchids.

It may disturb you. It's guaranteed to upset your self-complacency!

It has not been a dreadfully long time since I was startled into realizing Johannes Brahms had written something beside "Wiegand" through hearing a teacher of mine play more of his work.

It has been a delightfully pleasant this week to learn more about Brahms through Karl Geiringer's book upon him.

Geiringer in his own preface says of the Brahms letters upon which the book is based "I was authorized to be the first to read and use them for the purpose of my book."

He has made the book lively and compelling. You will be reluctant to put it down.

ADD ATTRACTION AT BROADWAY

"Servant of the People," a two-reel subject dramatizing the story of the United States constitution and hailed as a feature in everything but length, is a special added attraction at the Broadway theater today.

Produced with a lavish hand by the M-G-M studio with all the production facilities of that great studio, "Servant of the People" seeks to bring about a better understanding of the principles and purposes of the constitution, which today is discussed more than at any period in its 150-year history.

The two features on the Broadway program are "Flight from Glory," thrilling and romantic air picture with Chester Morris, Whitney Bourne, Onslow Stevens and Van Heflin, and "Windjammer," a dramatic adventure film starring George O'Brien.

Lola Larkin, English star in a Broadway revue, urged by Winfield Balcom to marry him, says that his people must approve of her, which, she says, they do. Winfield's father retains Martha Carter, clever woman lawyer, to prevent this seeming mesalliance. Norman Standish, Englishman, arrives in New York with Cora, his bride, and meets Lola in secret. Cora discovering this, rushes to her best friend, the same Martha Carter, and begs her to bribe Lola to keep away from Standish. This fails. Cora gets her husband to Hollywood, only to discover that Lola Larkin has followed them. Cora gets her husband back to New York. Before long, Lola is back there, too. Cora reports this to Martha.

CHAPTER XXIX
CORA was on the verge of hysterics, and Martha saw that she had to do something promptly, or Cora, unable to contain herself any longer, would openly accuse her husband, right at the time when that would be the worst thing she could do.

"I'll tell you something, Cora," Martha said, with a certain nervousness and an air of conviction that she really did not feel. "That is, that I believe you are entirely mistaken."

"Entirely mistaken?" Cora screamed. "I see them together! I see Norman kiss that wretch! She follows him to Hollywood and then follows him back to New York—and there's that love note about his getting the courage to tell me about her!"

"Just a minute, dear, please," Martha interrupted. "At the outset, when you first came to me with that note, I told you that I believed your husband had known Lola Larkin in England, and that they were probably just old friends. No matter how suspicious it may appear to you, I still believe that's all there is to it."

"But, Martha—"

"I know there is a young man, a splendid young man of good family, who is madly in love with Miss Larkin, and expects to marry her soon. They may even elope before long. I even know where they may go—to a certain small island off the Maine coast."

"Really? Why haven't you told me?"

"Professional reasons, Cora." "I hope you are right. Oh, I hope that creature elopes with this young fool this very day!"

"I'm telling you this to warn you not to go to your husband about it yet."

"I SEE, Martha. Well, that is some comfort. But I shall watch Norman like a hawk, just the same. Perhaps he doesn't know the creature is back from Hollywood yet, but I'm sure she will get in touch with him before the day is over."

"Whatever happens, report to me before you try to take any action. Promise this, Cora, or I shall wash my hands of the whole affair."

Cora promised and left, considerably encouraged.

Martha sighed. Perhaps it was unwise, even cruel to give Cora so much encouragement. She had, she realized, told only half a truth. It was quite all right if it would serve a good purpose, but she wondered if it would. Cora certainly would not feel so encouraged if she knew that this estimable young man's father did not approve of Lola Larkin and that the young man would lose an immense fortune if he married her.

Besides, Cora Standish would be more frightened than ever of the seeming wiles of Lola Larkin, if she knew that English detectives had reported that her family had washed their hands of her long ago.

THINKING of this reminded Martha that the American detectives she had engaged had been at work a long time and had apparently done nothing except discover the tentative plans of Lola and Winfield to spend the summer on a little island.

She called Johnson, head of the agency, then went over to see him. She wanted to know exactly what had happened.

Johnson explained that much investigation had been carried on but that there was little of interest to report. Miss Larkin's life in New York had apparently been about as uneventful as a day in the life of a stone.

"If you will leave your name and phone number, Miss Carter will get in touch with you," Rosa suggested.

The man shook his head.

"I have to make a Washington train. Give her this card. She will understand."

He handed Rosa a card. She glanced at it. Her eyes widened a little, and she caught her breath.

On the card was:

GENDRON ESTATE
Cabot, Potter & Walsh

Rosa knew that this Gendron estate matter meant more to Miss Carter than anything else at this time.

"Couldn't you wait?" Rosa asked pleadingly.

"Sorry. Impossible. Tell Miss Carter I'll see her eventually—that my stay in Washington is indefinite."

ROSA, with misgivings, watched him go. Miss Carter would be frantic, she knew. Perhaps she would blame her for not holding him. She glanced at the three names again and ran to the door to ask him which one of the three he was. But the caller had stepped into an elevator.

"Telephone him!" Martha exclaimed excitedly.

Rosa told her the circumstances. "And you don't know which one of these names he was?"

"He wouldn't say. Gee, Miss Carter, I couldn't grab him. I couldn't take it out of him, could I?"

"If I don't get that appointment—"

10-YEAR PLAN FOR ALASKA IS STUDIED

Senate Urged to Aid Northern Development

WASHINGTON, D. C. (American Wire.)—Five-year plans have been adopted for the operation of modern Russia, but it is to be a 10-year plan that will develop the resources of Alaska, which has proved to be one of the richest territories once embraced by the vast Russian empire—provided congress enacts a pending measure.

This measure is now before the senate committee on territories and insular affairs for consideration. It is senate concurrent resolution No. 20, introduced a few days ago by Senator L. B. Schwellenbach of Washington.

UP TO PRESIDENT

Under its terms, President Roosevelt would be asked to have existing federal departments use part of this year's appropriations for preparing the proposed 10-year plan. A report would be made to congress early next year.

At the discretion of the President, such a report might set forth those facilities deemed advisable for Alaska as natural defense measures.

This would open the door for recommendations for a naval base, for aviation fields and for the proposed Pacific highway connecting Alaska with Puget Sound through British Columbia.

Only recently the navy department made an adverse recommendation on a bill submitted by Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska providing for a naval base. Although the secretary of the navy saw no immediate need for a naval base in Alaska, he inferred it might be given future consideration by saying that the navy must conduct operations in Alaskan waters.

The concurrent resolution, in full, follows:

ALSO FOR EXPENSE

"Resolved by the senate (the house of representatives concurring), that the President be requested to prepare or cause to be prepared by the present departments and agencies of the government and within the regular appropriations of such departments and agencies heretofore made for the fiscal year 1938 and to report to congress within 30 days after commencement of the second session of the 75th congress, a comprehensive plan to be carried out over a period of approximately 10 years, for the development of the resources of the territory of Alaska, and within the territory. The plan so prepared and reported to congress may, in the discretion of the President, embrace a statement of such works and facilities to be established in Alaska as may be desirable for national defense."

This measure is receiving special attention from Senator Homer T. Bone as the Pacific Northwest's representative on the senate territories and insular affairs committee. Delegate Dimond, as a member of the house committee on territories, will guide the resolution after its passage by the senate.

Why We Blow on Soup to Cool It

BOSTON. (American Wire.)—We blow on a spoonful of hot soup to make it cool and blow on our fingers in the winter to make them warm.

This phenomena is explained in detail in the Technology Review. Wood, like every other combustible material, takes fire only when it is heated above its kindling temperature, and it continues to burn only so long as its temperature is maintained above this point.

When we blow out a match, we cool it below its kindling temperature. When we blow upon a large fire, we merely supply more oxygen to it and increase the rate of its combustion.

We cool our soup by hastening evaporation from its surface. We warm our fingers by breathing upon them.

Swing Around The Rosie

It's all quite jolly in merrie old England on balmy August week-ends to repair to the seaside for a bit of surf and sun. These three seemed to go in for acrobatics in a vigorous way on the beach at Margate, Kent. The husky fellow at the left appeared to get quite a kick out of pulling the young lady's leg, so to speak. Englishmen don't usually spend their time swinging women around by the feet on their beaches but in this case they are acrobatically-inclined Britons, just showing off a bit.

PLAN JAYSEE OPENING

Plans for the opening of faculty and student activities at Santa Ana Junior college were completed today by Director D. K. Hammond. Instructors who serve as student advisors during the year will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday Sept. 6, while students will convene for the opening program of Freshman days on Sept. 7.

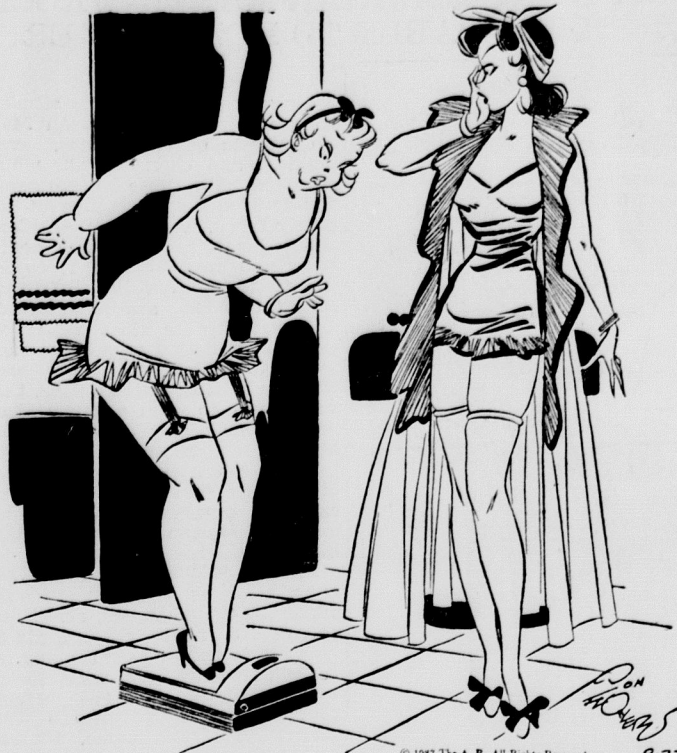

According to instructions issued by Director Hammond, the following schedule will be maintained during Freshman days and college registration: Freshman days, Sept. 7, 8 and 9; registration of former students, Sept. 9; registration of new students, Sept. 10.

Instruction begins—Sept. 13. A general teachers' meeting for all teachers in the Santa Ana school system will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, according to F. A. Henderson, superintendent of schools. The Santa Ana board of education will act as host for this meeting, Henderson said.

FAMED RACING WRITER DIES

INDIANAPOLIS. (A.P.)—William F. Sturm, 53, long connected with automobile racing in the United States both as a writer and a participant, died yesterday.

Sturm, an employee of the Indianapolis News, had covered every race at Indianapolis motor speedway since its opening in 1909.

Sturm managed H. O. D. Seagrave, Kay Don, Sir Malcolm Campbell and Frank Lockhart in their assaults on automobile speed records over tracks in Florida and Utah.

In 1915 Sturm established a coast-to-coast record for cross country driving by making a trip from New York to San Francisco in five days, 17 hours and 33 minutes.

Pre-Indian Race's Relics Discovered

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (American Wire.)—William Ross, chairman of the board of directors of the Champlain Valley Archaeological society, has discovered in Vermont evidences of a pre-Indian civilization, dating back 15,000 or 20,000 years, B. C., the close of the ice age.

Vermont archaeologically hasn't been touched yet," said Ross. "If many of the village sites were properly unearthed, they would almost certainly reveal information of inestimable value to a proper understanding of primitive mankind."

PIRATE DAYS FIESTA SET AT HARBOR

Children to Be Feted
Sept. 5 By 20-30 Club

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Pirates in costume will invade Newport harbor again on Sunday, Sept. 5th, when the "White Pirate Days" celebration will be staged by the newly organized Newport Beach 20-30 club.

This feature is for the youngsters. "Pirates" of all ages will form at the Newport Beach pier at 1 p. m. where the parade will start. From various points in the harbor sections the parades will converge at the Balboa Beach club on Bay Front then march in review before the judges at the Balboa pier.

Following the parade and costume contest, games and sport events will be staged under the supervision of J. M. Clark and other committee workers. Prizes will be awarded to winners. At 4:30 Sunday afternoon a gala Pirate ball will be staged at the Rendezvous ballroom for grown-ups.

A series of marshmallow bakes and bonfires will be staged on the beach at 5 p. m. One bonfire will be built at Palm street, another at 23d street, and another on the Bay Front, Balboa Island.

The affair is being sponsored by the Newport Harbor 20-30 club under the supervision of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. The committee in charge consists of Dick Torrance, chairman; Ren Ludlum, Bert Lynch, Walt Dyson, Hugh McMillan, Frank Sloan, Dick Housman, and Otis Weatherwax. Judges for the costume event will be Mrs. Irvin George Gordon, Mrs. Harry Williamson, Brick Gaines and Verne Wickham.

'Overturned' Car Is Minus Driver

There wasn't anything to this—Officers last night were asked to investigate the overturning of a Model T auto by several boys at Chestnut and Baker streets. When police arrived, there wasn't any car.

After cruising about for awhile, they found the car of ancient vintage parked at Third and Baker streets. There was no tail light, no license plates, and no registration certificate on it. And there wasn't any driver.

The auto was impounded at a local garage. It was found to be registered to Harold Roll, 1027 West Pine street.

School Bus Pilots Must Take Tests

Men who expect to drive school buses this school year must take driving examinations, George Peterkin, state highway patrol officer in charge of school buses in Orange county, announced today.

Examinations for renewal of licenses by old bus drivers started last Saturday, and will continue tomorrow. Those who expect to receive new licenses must take the examinations, to be given each Saturday at 9:30 a. m. until school starts, Peterkin announced.

About half of the drivers seeking renewals have already passed their examinations, Peterkin said.

Rubber Workers Favor CIO Group

AKRON, O. (AP)—Tabulation of votes in the employees' election at the B. F. Goodrich company plant today showed 8212 in favor of the United Rubber Workers of America, CIO affiliate, as sole collective bargaining agency for the employees, and 894 voting against the U. R. W. A.

The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations board.

St. Joseph Plans Hobby Exhibits

Staff members of St. Joseph hospital are making preparations for a hobbies exhibit to be held Oct. 13, according to an announcement made today.

Already 58 entries have been received. Doctors on the hospital staff will have their various exhibits on display at the hospital during the day.

Plans are now in a preliminary stage, but the entries are being received daily.

Where Chinese Bombs Killed Hundreds

This picture of the intersection of Avenue Edouard VII and Thibet road was taken a few moments after a Chinese bomb fell on an amusement house in Shanghai and brought death to several hundred persons as troops of China and Japan were locked in battle.

McCormick Tax To Be 10 Million

CHICAGO, (AP)—An inheritance tax return on file in the office of the collector of internal revenue today disclosed that trustees of the late Cyrus H. McCormick's estate will turn over an estimated $10,300,000 to the federal government.

Combined federal and state taxes are more than only half the assessed value of $22,359,806.

McCormick, who died June 2, 1936, was chairman of the International Harvester company.

VISITOR FETED

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Ralph Vile was hostess at luncheon Wednesday honoring her guest, Mrs. Laura Cook, of Strathmore. Other guests were Mrs. Georgia Balan, Exeter; Mrs. Anna Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Buston and Miss Lela Smith.

Huge Home Loan Gains Reported

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Federal Home Loan Bank board said today savings invested in Federal Savings and Loan associations in California increased from $24,371,772 to $31,395,330 in the 12 months ending Aug. 1.

During the same period assets of the 60 federal associations in the state jumped to $63,977,332 from $42,686,014, an increase of $21,291,318.

Coloring of Dogs Matches Dresses

MEXICO CITY. (American Wire)—American tourists were alarmed last week to see a brick-red bulldog, a green, white and red Spitz and a sky-blue fox terrier roaming around the streets. The sight wasn't an eye affliction. It was the result of the latest fad to have dogs match the frocks of their women owners.

MRS. JONES IS W.C.T.U. SPEAKER

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. R. W. Jones of El Modena was guest speaker for the mothers and daughters' meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the East Acacia street home of Mrs. G. L. Beardsley, Wednesday afternoon.

Faith Jenkins and Verna Wade added to the program with a vocal duet with Mrs. Bessie Wade accompanying at the piano. During the social hour when refreshments were served members honored one of their co-workers, Mrs. Addie Miller, who was recently married.

Rebekahs Meet At Westminster

WESTMINSTER.—Vice grands from the seven Rebekah lodges of the district were entertained by members of the Aloha Rebekah lodge at their regular meeting Tuesday night. Mrs. Lucie Moon, vice grand of the local lodge, presided.

A talk by Harry Hall marked the evening program, and a harmonica solo by Clifford Moon and a tap dance by Miss Saunders, Anaheim, were added features. Mrs. May Manspinger, chairman of the hostess committee, served refreshments.

PLAN NEW HOME

BARBER CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brock, Long Beach, who recently purchased a lot on Jane street, will start construction of a five-room house immediately, and upon completion will make their home here.

REMODELS HOME

BARBER CITY.—William Hilborn, owner of the house occupied by his mother, Mrs. Floy Hilborn, is remodeling the home during Mrs. Hilborn's absence in the north.

LEAVE ON TRIP

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Smith and son are planning to leave Sunday morning by motor for a vacation trip which will include visits in Springfield, Mo., St. Louis, Kansas City and San Antonio, Tex.

HAVE WIENER BAKE

BARBER CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. Felix Seeling and children, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Barnett and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson enjoyed a wiener bake near the Scout cabin on Bixby ranch Sunday evening.

JOLIVETTE WINS TALK PRIZE

Dr. W. L. Jolivet took first place at El Camino Toastmasters club last night in a 10-minute talk on "The Secret of Success." He recounted factors found essential by Napoleon Hill in a study of the lives of 4000 great men. Glenn Tidball was given second place. Dr. C. J. Ruley was toastmaster. Tidball was pitted against W. H. "Ted" Blanding in a debate on labor unions. Tidball defended unions. They were credited by the general critic, Fred McCandless, as having given convincing talks.

"Oddities" gave Duane Armstrong an opportunity to direct attention to unusual features of various divisions of the human race. J. Meyer, speaking on advertising, derided the claims made by advertisers. Ernest S. Wooster spoke on schools, claiming that the modern system of teaching is handicraftsmanship, whereas the use of machinery would achieve greater results with big savings in expenses.

Critics were Jack Bascom, Philip N. Hood, A. O. Hatfield, Malcolm Macurda, Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth and Nolan Doss.

Baron Rothschild Is Death Victim

LONDON. (AP)—The second Baron Rothschild, a member of the famous banking family, died early today at his home at Tring, Hertfordshire, after a long illness. He was 69 years old.

The baron, Lionel Walter Rothschild, was not a banker himself. He was deeply interested in zoology and was author of many writings in that field. His recreations included shooting and hunting.

He was unmarried and his title passes to a nephew, Victor Rothschild.

Four Held on Narcotics Count

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Three men and a woman were arrested here today on suspicion of violation of the state narcotics act.

Detectives reported confiscating a quantity of morphine, marijuana cigarettes and a hypodermic outfit.

The prisoners were booked as Everett McDonald, 26; his wife, Betty, 22; Manuel Ruiz, 44, and Alexander Jones.

CRYSTAL WHITE SOAP OFFERS FREE! A BIRTHSTONE BRACELET

Free FOR 20 WRAPPERS FROM CRYSTAL WHITE SOAP

Special offer to induce you to use this big, creamy-white bar soap that washes clothes crystal clean... dishes crystal clear.

Think of it! This beautiful bracelet of genuine 14-carat gold plate setting and fittings and YOUR OWN BIRTHSTONE—FREE! The imported colored stone—(there's a different one for each month)—is set in an exquisite mounting. It makes a lovely bracelet... one you will delight in wearing. And it has an adjustable black cord strap. Remember too, that wearing your own birthstone is said to bring you good luck and happiness. And it's easy to get, too!

Crystal White is the creamy-white family bar soap that gives richer, longer-lasting, "billion bubble suds"—even in hard water—because it is made with the same costly tropical oil used in making expensive toilet soaps and shampoos.

These thicker, harder-working suds dissolve grease and grime... get everything crystal clean. What a blessing that is to women for all hard cleaning jobs! Yet Crystal White Soap costs only half as much as soap in fancy packages. You'll find it's ideal for laundry—dishes—pots—pans—all your household cleaning.

Get your supply of Crystal White Soap TODAY. Send in 20 wrappers and get your FREE birthstone bracelet!

GENUINE 14-KT. GOLD PLATE SETTING AND FITTINGS

THE LARGEST BARGAIN SPOT In Orange County

WAR VETS TO BE GUESTS AT HARBOR

Sheppard and Fleming To Be Rally Speakers

NEWPORT - BALBOA.—James Fleming, department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Congressman Harry R. Sheppard will head the list of speakers who will address delegates to the two-day V. F. W. rally to be held here Sept. 18 and 19, committee members said today.

Fleming and Sheppard will address the assembly of veterans and their families in a meeting to be held in the Ritz theater, Sunday, Sept. 18, at 9:30 a. m. The program as released by the morning by Newport Beach veterans in charge of the two-day conclave calls for registration to open Saturday morning at booths to be located in the central business section at Balboa, and also at the entrance to the municipal pier at Newport Beach. Swimming, diving and fishing events will take up the morning and early afternoon.

The first official meeting of the rally will be the post officers' conference at 3 p. m. The department commanders' dinner will be held at 6 p. m. at the Peninsula cafe. The ladies auxiliaries' dinner at Wilson's Bay Front cafe the same hour. At 9 p. m. a gala dance is slated at the Balboa Rendezvous dance hall.

Sunday morning at 9:30 will be staged the general meeting in the Ritz theater. A parade is scheduled for Sunday at 11:30 a. m. with a program of water sports included. Awarding of prizes will be at 4 p. m. A girls' team from Wilmington will contest a team of girls from Anaheim in a softball game at the grammar school grounds at 2 p. m.

Many cash awards have been arranged by the local committee. A few of the prizes are: A $25 attendance prize, $10 award to the post farthest distance from Balboa represented by a delegation of five or more members, $10 to the post showing the greatest increase in membership, and $10 to the post outside of Orange county having the largest attendance with a cash award for the fastest delegate. Additional awards will be made for winners of sports and fishing events.

Laguna City Council Asks New Postoffice Building

LAGUNA BEACH.—The city council acted in conjunction with the chamber of commerce Wednesday night in requesting a new postoffice for the city, indicating a willingness to present the "civic center" property recently purchased as a location.

A wire will be sent to Postmaster James A. Farley and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., indicating the city might allocate property for construction of a federal building. The wire was not, however, a definite commitment to allocating the property, the council agreed.

Horses belonging to Josie M. Rice and Ralph M. Bryant may rest undisturbed temporarily, the council decided. Last week the applications for permits were received, but according to a new council policy, horses must wait without permission for existence within the city limits until the council is sure that no protests from nearby residents will be forthcoming.

Again the council received a petition of protest from disturbed residents of the dog pound zone. Again removal of the pound was requested. As several weeks ago, the matter was referred to Councilmen Jester, Cummings and Bainbridge. Cummings assured the body that he knew of no better place for the pound.

Another slash in city tax rates was made with a 35 cent rate per $100 property valuation in the Laguna Beach sanitary district. The lowered rate—nearly 50 per cent less than last year's 75 cents per $100—is nevertheless expected to draw $5000 or over into the district fund.

START S. C. THEATER

SAN CLEMENTE.—Ground was broken Thursday for San Clemente's new $75,000 theater which is being erected at the north end of the city adjoining the new casino.

The building, which is being built by the Capital company, was designed by C. A. Balch, architect. It is of modern Mediterranean type with stores, shops and a large patio included in the design.

The equipment will include the most modern type of sound and projection mechanism available and the auditorium will seat 700 with space for 150 more in loges.

Construction work is to be pushed as rapidly as possible and the opening day has been tentatively set for Thanksgiving day.

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

Mrs. Lucy F. Harris, wife of Mr. George W. Harris, who passed away Monday, Aug. 23, after a short illness, shall always be remembered by her many friends for her kindness and unselfish life. She lived in the mountains above El Toro since early childhood, and raised a family of three sons, George W., Jr., Richard P., and Robert F., in that lovely mountain home.

Richard F. Harris has been the principal of our school for the past three years. The funeral services were held in Santa Ana Thursday, with interment in the El Toro cemetery.

Arthur E. Collins, who was crushed by a tractor in a Capistrano field last Saturday, was a resident of El Toro for several years. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Ellen N. Collins and four children, Lewis, Helen, Erlene and Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Grijalva are both ill and in the hospital. A relative is here, caring for their two little granddaughters.

Church services will be held in the El Toro Hall Sunday, Aug. 29, immediately after Sunday school which convenes at 9:30 a. m. The Rev. Levi Hemerway speaking.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Taul of Los Angeles, visited their family here, in Mrs. Annabell Whistler's home, Mrs. Mary E. Taul, their mother, returning with them for a week's stay.

A group of neighbors dropped in on Will Woodhouse and Frank Klapetzky one night this week and came away holding their sides. Frank had been telling some very funny experiences, and can he tell them. Of how they used to be very fond of shrimps, but aren't any more! Of how, when they discovered that they didn't like goats milk, he made "limburger swiss cheese" that will just couldn't get along with him.

It seems that this very unusual and interesting couple first met back in 1915, when Will was foreman of the warehouse mill, then owned by M. A. Newark, and Frank was cooking for a road camp, next to the village blacksmith.

It was soon after Will had lost his wife, and Frank, sensing his loneliness, invited him to take his meals with them. It wasn't long before Frank was established in Will's home as chef, and hot water-washer, so to speak, and Will as out-door man. Since then they have taken some wonderful trips together.

Once through the Panama Canal to Cuba, and back through the States. And in 1930, down into South America. But on return to find that their house had been robbed of everything, including treasured keepsakes.

However, today, after 22 years, they still maintain their happy little home, with dogs and cats, chickens, turkeys, possums, pet snakes, bees, several kinds of caged birds and fish. A green-house, large shady grape arbor, grand old trees, delis, tropical plants, oh, so many things; in our little home that nestles up among the foothills of Old San Jacinto and, surrounded by orange and walnut groves, bean and grain fields.

Sue CIO for 'Strip' Action

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Asserting it was "embarrassed" by national labor relations board charges it sponsored "strip-tease" performances to compete against union meetings, the Clover Fork Coal Co. filed suit against the federal agency asking $50,000 damages.

The issue was raised at a recent hearing conducted by the NLRB on charges the Kitts, Ky., company had violated the Wagner act by discharge of workers for union activity and other irregularities, but the firm was absolved on "strip-tease" count.

At Cincinnati, Philip G. Phillips, regional NLRB director, termed the Clover Fork's suit a "great joke."

San Juan Rotary Members Meet

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Seventy-five members and friends of the Rotary club met at the Aquarius cafe in San Clemente Wednesday evening for a dinner in place of the usual weekly meeting.

The affair was the first social gathering of the club since its organization and was well attended by visitors from other towns, groups being present from Orange, Santa Ana and other inland centers. Clarence Brown, president, on behalf of the club presented Vernon Beck, with a past president's pin in token of his services as the first presiding officer of the club.

After dinner members and guests adjourned to the nearby Casino San Clemente where they danced.

Brea Pair on Vacation Trip

BREA.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey of South Madrona avenue, Brea, are touring Bryce canyon, Zion and Grand canyon parks with Professor and Mrs. C. L. Hitchcock, their daughter and son-in-law.

Professor Hitchcock will collect and photograph plant life in the canyons. He is professor of botany at the University of Washington at Seattle beginning this fall. The Harveys will return to Brea about Sept. 1.

Mesa Pair Return From San Fernando

COSTA MESA.—Herbert and Julia Baird returned Tuesday from several weeks' visit at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Baird, during their vacation. Julia spent several days in the mountains back of Los Angeles playgrounds.

Their sister, Miss Christine Baird, has been spending the summer with her grandparents in Marysville and will be accompanied by them and an uncle, upon her return home for school.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Leading stocks were chopped down 1 to 3 or more points in today's market as traders found little change for the better in either foreign or domestic news.

There was an abortive rally at the start, lasting only a few minutes. The list gave ground slowly thereafter until around the final hour, when a break in steels sapped the small amount of courage remaining in buying forces.

A few utilities, rails and specialties did comparatively well, although most were unable to finish ahead. Extreme setbacks were reduced before the close.

Dealings were light during the morning. Momentum picked up on the late sell-off. Prices followed:

HOOVER MAPS 1938 STATE CAMPAIGN

Party Man Is Sought To Replace M'Adoo

By B. W. HORNE
SAN FRANCISCO. (Special)—Former President Hoover today was reported looking over the state political situation, apparently determined to revitalize the republican organization for next year's campaign.

Hoover wants to get the G. O. P. all charged up and feeling physically fit to tackle U. S. Senator William Gibbs McAdoo as well as all candidates for other congressional and state offices the Democrats may present.

At this stage Senator McAdoo seems to be the main target of the Hooverites, probably because politicians, particularly of the Republican stripe, figure that in 1938 and in his 76th year—Mr. McAdoo will be 75, October, 1937—just before the election he won't be too hard to knock over. So scouts have been sent around the state to unearth a party man to head the G. O. P. ticket.

SCOUTS REPORT
Preliminary reports have been obtained from the scouting expeditions and they are none too encouraging. From all that can be gathered Los Angeles and the other counties south of the Tehachians were gone over carefully but the political comb failed to produce a single eligible there.

In the north the search is supposed to have been more fruitful. Major-Gen. David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California; John Francis Neylan, one-time protégé of U. S. Senator Hiram W. Johnson and attorney for William Randolph Hearst interests; Francis V. Kessling and Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, were located in approximately the order named.

General Barrows may have the inside track for the privilege of tugging with Senator McAdoo because the Hooverites want a U. C. man and for the added reason that Mr. Neylan is said to be cherishing a secret hankering to succeed Senator Johnson when the latter retires. Mr. Kessling may be disqualified, but only on account of his Stanford university background. He rates high as a son of G. O. P. but it must be a son of the Blue and Gold he can't make it. Mr. Kelly may be accepted, but only if the others refuse to go.

TO BECOME ACTIVE

Hoover's decision to assume an active role in next year's campaign does not mean he will take the stump. He will do that only in the event the candidate selected bears his approval, for the former President prefers to do his politics more or less indirectly. The Hoover Republicans—there are virtually no other kind left in California—will consider their work done as soon as they find a senatorial candidate. With the exception of the congressional state, the G. O. P. lineup is virtually complete.

Gov. Merriam is virtually assured of the party's backing for re-election. Only a decision by someone like former Gov. C. C. Young to essay a comeback could split the G.O.P. into factions. Lieut. Gov. George Hatfield may be a candidate for governor or re-election, or follow the advice of Mrs. Hatfield and get out of politics.

INCUMBENT TO RUN

U. S. Webb will seek re-election as attorney general if Gov. Merriam appoints him to the office. Frank Merriam doesn't appoint him to the Jordan will try to continue as secretary of state. Charles G. Johnson will want to remain treasurer and Harry B. Riley, appointed controller when Ray Riley was named to the railroad commission, also will be a candidate.

Incidentally, the G.O.P. plans to try to regain full control of the legislature and has started a movement in an attempt to discredit Democratic members of the assembly.

Approves Sale of Indians' Land

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt signed yesterday a bill authorizing the secretary of the interior to lease or sell certain lands of the Agua Caliente or Palm Springs reservation, California, for use as a public airport.

Oil for China

Gasoline for her war machines, shells and gas masks were on the shopping list of Finance Minister H. H. Kung on a European business trip.

FEAR FLOOD IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Two hundred Washington residents went back home today after a night of fear that water backed up from over-taxed drains might flood their houses.

Five days of almost constant rainfall were climaxed last evening in a brief storm that added 1.26 inches of rain. The water reached the ground floor in some houses.

Sideswiped Car Slightly Damaged

Little damage was suffered by a car driven by Bernard Ray Miller, 609 West Almond street, Orange, when it was sideswiped by a car driven by Philip Cruz, 1026 Lindon avenue, Santa Ana, last night.

The accident occurred at Fifteenth and Main streets when a car is said to have pulled out from the curb, causing Cruz to cross the middle lane and sideswipe the Miller car. Cruz was given a citation for not having a driver's license. The car Cruz was driving was registered to Crescencio Cruz, 9604 Rudie, Arlington.

Marine Firemen Stay With CIO

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—R. J. Fitzgerald, temporary chairman of the San Francisco local of the Marine Firemen's union, said the group had reaffirmed a previous ballot for C. I. O. affiliation in a meeting that was marked by heated dissension.

Secretary J. E. Ferguson and some 40 followers bolted the session last night. Fitzgerald said the C. I. O. reaffirmation vote was 133 to 53.

Ferguson, contesting Fitzgerald's statement, declared he had adjourned the meeting without the vote being approved.

Bankamerica Now Has Local Office

Announcement is made today by Bankamerica company, investment security firm with offices in principal California cities, of the opening of a Santa Ana office in the Bank of America building and the association with it of Horace J. Elliott.

The Bank of America building is located on Fourth street between Main and Sycamore.

FROZEN FRUIT BAN LAUDED BY OFFICIALS

Inspector Gives Boost For Local Oranges

Vigilance on the part of growers, packers and officials to keep frost-damaged oranges from going to eastern markets has proved the biggest possible boost for California citrus fruit, Lions club members were told yesterday by H. W. Poulsen, state department of agriculture official.

Poulsen, assistant chief of the standardization division, recently returned from a tour of the largest eastern citrus auction markets, where he inspected California fruit.

Less than 5 per cent of California orchard run oranges was damaged when it reached the markets, he estimated after taking samples from the lower grade fruit, which would be most likely to show frost damage.

Auction buyers were enthusiastic over the job Californians did in keeping up the quality of the fruit after last winter's freeze, Poulsen reported, contrasting it with fruit from other regions during previous freezes which showed a large amount of frost damage when it reached markets.

STUDY FISH CONSERVATION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(American Wire)—With a view toward conserving and restoring fish and shellfish in both fresh and salt waters of the United States and territorial possessions, a senate committee will be appointed by Vice President Garner to hold hearings and make legislative recommendations, if the house and the President follow the action of the senate a few days ago in approving a resolution by Senator L. B. Schwellenbach.

This committee, consisting of five senators, would "investigate all matters pertaining to the replacement, conservation and proper utilization of aquatic life (including marine and fresh water food and game fishes and shellfish) of the United States, its territories and waters adjacent thereto, with a view toward determining the most appropriate methods of carrying out such purposes."

A report would be made not later than a year from January.

Bee Boarders Pay Rent to Family

WHEATLEY, Ont. (American Wire)—The Derbyshire family has a swarm of bees as boarders. The bees pay their rent and never disturb the family.

It all started a few months ago when the bees invaded an empty bedroom on the second floor of the Derbyshire home. After several unsuccessful attempts to get the bees to leave, the family simply closed up the keyhole and padded door cracks and left the bees in the room.

A few weeks ago Mr. Derbyshire had an idea. He went into the bees' room and tore up a board in the floor. There he found the silks packed with honey, 500 pounds of it. The Derbyshires sold the honey for more than what they could have rented the bedroom for. The bees are still staying in the room.

Her Superdreadnaught

The parents of 2-year-old Carol Lou Schmida don't worry when the little Portland girl goes out to play, for her constant companion is Buster, the bulldog, who is built like a superdreadnaught and just as ready for fight for his tiny playmate.

'The Visitor Is Always Right'—To Some Police

TACOMA, Wash. (P)—Visiting motorists to Tacoma don't have to worry about parking regulations. The city gives them windshield stickers allowing them to park any length of time. More than 1000 of the stickers are in use. They carry the automobile license number and the owner's name and address, together with an admonition to police officers to permit parking "as long as necessary."

Holders of the tags receive a monthly calendar of interesting city events.

SPRINGS HEAT APARTMENTS

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (American Wire)—The price of coal doesn't worry the tenants of 60 houses and six apartment buildings here.

These buildings are all heated by natural hot water drawn from a subterranean body under a large section of this city.

The first natural hot water heating project here was that of Paul Johnson, who sank a well and pumped hot water to heat a private greenhouse and his residence in the hot springs section in 1917. Shortly after that the White Pelican hotel was built and a natural hot water heating system installed. The hotel has since burned, but a garage was constructed on the site using hot water from the same well.

During the last five years dozens of wells have tapped the body of hot water, which covers an area of about three square miles. The wells vary in depth from 50 to 200 feet and the temperature of the water varies from 140 to 208 degrees Fahrenheit.

Serves a 'Term' All by Mistake

KELLYS ISLAND, Ohio. (P)—Kenneth Erney swears that the next time he gets into jail it will be with some provocation.

Erney and Edwin Ludwig, county investigators for the old age pension system, came to this island village in Lake Erie to check up on applicants. Their duties took them to the town jail, where Erney noticed an open cell. He walked in to inspect it, and the steel-barred door clanged shut, locking him in.

Ludwig went for help, only to learn that the town marshal had the cell key and had gone off on a fishing trip. Several hours passed, with Erney helplessly rattling the bars and Ludwig hunting a key. Late in the day the mayor managed to locate a spare key and freed the accidental prisoner.

Water Revives 'Dead' Birds

CHICAGO. (P)—"Sorry, but they're dead," said the expressman, as he delivered three South American humming birds to Karl Plath, curator of birds at Brookfield zoo, Chicago.

But Plath bathed the birds in lukewarm water. Then he breathed gently upon them to warm them. They stirred and Plath worked fast.

He mixed honey and distilled water, added a few drops of brandy and put the nectar into glass feeding cups. The little birds were wobbly but they got the idea when Plath propped them against the cups. They sipped and eventually fluttered their wings and took interest in their new home.

Asking Dad for Money—It's An Old Story

LANCASTER, Pa. (P)—College students wrote home for money in 1788.

Dr. H. M. J. Klein, professor of history at Franklin and Marshall college, found a letter written one year after the college was founded in which the student made an appeal to his father for funds.

The father was Peter Rhoads, sr., members of the Pennsylvania Assembly.

The request was written by Rhoads, jr., who was graduated from Franklin and Marshall in 1790, and later became president of the Northampton bank.

The son wrote:

"Dear Father:—Your favor of the 13th last I received on the 8th. . . . Gibson's surveying is not immediately necessary, but it (the book) would greatly assist me. In this you may please yourself, and I am satisfied. I will, with the help of God, learn that the money you have advanced me shall not be lost."

Manhole Cover Wrecks Fender

BOZEMAN, Mont. (P)—Imagine the surprise of Virginia Willson when the street flew up and demolished the front fender of her car.

"It wasn't really the street," explained Miss Willson. "It was a manhole cover. When the front wheel ran over it, the cover flew upward and after tearing the fender to pieces rolled down the street."

City employees welded the heavy top back in place to prevent a repetition.

Motor Taxes to Be Nearly Billion

NEW YORK. (American Wire) Motorists of United States will pay approximately $982,000,000 in federal and state gasoline taxes this year, treasury officials estimate.

NEW MEDICAL PLAN OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(American Wire)—A plan to federalize the entire medical profession is being considered by President Roosevelt and leading medical authorities of the nation.

Champions of this plan declare the health of its citizens is the first concern of the nation. They point out that thousands of Americans forego medical attention because they cannot meet doctors' bills.

U. S. WOULD PAY

Highlights of the plan include: 1. The United States' 150,000 doctors will become officers in the public health service, a branch of the federal government under a sub-cabinet official. The government will pay for all preventative medicine which they practice in their offices, such as immunization against smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid.

2. Every person who expects to be unable to pay his doctor, nurse, drug or hospital bill must register with a government bureau—which will pay such bills out of tax money.

HOSPITALS SUPPORTED

3. The federal treasury will pay the expenses of all public hospitals and the deficits of all private charity-supported hospitals and finance construction of new hospitals.

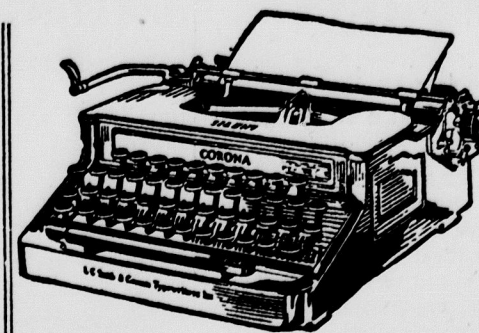

4. The federal treasury will pay the deficits of all first-class medical schools and subsidize their expansion.

The plan saw its birth April 8 when the President met at the White House with three groups. These groups consisted of Mrs. Roosevelt and Esther Everett Lape, manager of the American foundation; the nation's official doctors, Surgeon General Thomas Parran, jr. of the U. S. Public Health service and Dr. Ross McIntire, the President's personal physician, and 10 leading private practitioners.

Argentina is primarily an agricultural country, importing 75 per cent of the manufactured products it uses.

SEPTEMBER FURNITURE SALES

The davenport in the living-room shows the wear and tear of Junior's Pony Express days—when he sat astride the arm and larruped his make-believe, panting pony across the dusty plains. Junior is grown-up now (or thinks he is) and the davenport should be replaced . . . And here and there all through the house you'll see a table, or chair, or bed, or rugs that were beautiful and comfortable in their day. But that day was long ago.

Now is the time to replace them—at savings. And you'll find those savings in this newspaper. Read the advertisements that are bannered SEPTEMBER FURNITURESALES. Furniture and house-furnishings are so attractively priced that you can't afford not to bring your home up-to-date.

Read advertisements in September—and in every month. They bring you news to help you and your family keep up with the world.

WELFARE POSTS TO GATHER

General Welfare Legion leaders and friends from the three counties in the 19th congressional district, with visitors from Los Angeles county, will assemble at Fairmont park, Riverside, Sunday at 8:30 a. m. for a General Welfare breakfast, it was announced today.

A meeting will be held starting at 9:30 a. m., featuring addresses by local and visiting speakers supporting the drive for enactment of the General Welfare act of 1937, the official Townsend Plan legislation, according to H. F. Kennedy, Santa Ana, secretary of the district organization.

Kenny also announced that a mass meeting scheduled for next Tuesday night in the American Legion hall has been postponed until a later date, but that the Santa Ana post of the General Welfare Legion will meet as usual in the Y. M. C. A. with the Rev. C. Alexander, Corona, as speaker.

The first district convention of the organization will be held in the Corona city park on Sept. 11, with Congressman Harry R. Shepherd scheduled to be the principal speaker.

At a meeting of the local post this week, President Frank Kendall severely criticized what he said were un-American tactics of certain Townsend speakers and leaders. He said they seek to prohibit their members from reading anything except the Townsend Weekly or listening to anything except what the Townsend speakers choose to tell them.

OIL FRAUD CASE CHARGE FAILS

Six hours of deliberation by a superior court jury resulted last night in freedom for George K. Linderman, Los Angeles oil operator, from charges of bilking a Santa Ana man out of $5000 for an interest in an oil well.

The jury retired at 4:32 p. m. and returned at 10:10 p. m. with the not guilty verdict. The trial had lasted three days before the jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Linderman was charged with bilking W. M. Smith of Santa Ana out of $5000 by representing that a Kern county oil well was a commercial producer, after showing him motion pictures indicating the well was flowing. The prosecution charged the pictures were of sump oil going through a pump, with a shovel held under the spout to make the oil appear to be spraying from the pipe.

Smith said he paid the money for an eighth interest in the well after a series of conferences in the office of Fred Forgy, local attorney, who was one of the principal prosecution witnesses.

Walter Terrill, Anaheim man charged with molesting two minor Placentia girls, must spend a year in the county jail.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel imposed the jail term today in denying Terrill's application for probation. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of the two girls, 10 and 12 years old, in an orchard near their home.

The Reluctant Dyer Jury

Legally, Albert Dyer, the white trash killer of three Inglewood girls, was presumed innocent until a jury yesterday afternoon at last pronounced him guilty.

Actually, of course, the Southern California public, which has watched this whole horrible affair with more than usual interest, long ago pronounced him guilty. His own repeated confessions proclaimed it; all the known facts substantiated the indictment.

His wife had deserted Dyer. That was enough to damn him, for it is one of those eternal truths that a decent wife or a decent mother will stick by a husband or son, no matter what he has done, if there is a shred of justification to cling to. Mrs. Dyer, a bride, shrieked with horror that the whole ghastly story was true—and turned away.

The 12 jurors, too, failed to find any ground for reasonable doubt. They agreed from the first that Dyer was guilty of an atrocious and unforgivable offense.

Then, why the long delay in the verdict? Because there was a minority group in the membership of the jury which held scruples against capital punishment. Not until these could be overcome by the persuasion and pressure of the majority was Dyer's doom pronounced.

In any jury of 12 men and women you could pick at random this same condition would prevail. And therein lies one of the strong arguments against the practice of capital punishment. The Dyer case came perilously close to a disagreement because of this unwillingness of some of the man's peers to vote his life away—worthless and mispent, cruel and ruthless as that life had been.

In any murder trial you can see some of the most intelligent and high minded members drawn on the panel avoiding jury service simply because they do entertain these scruples.

If a state is going to inflict capital punishment, as the legislature has decided California shall continue doing, Dyer is a thoroughly appropriate person on whose neck to fit the noose. Just the same, the conduct of the 12 men and women who heard his horrible story is a warning once again that the capital punishment issue has not been permanently disposed of.

A glass of wine put John Roosevelt on page one, but it took a war in China to give the Republican branch of the family the same break.

Harrowing Experience!

Speaking of tall corn, did you ever hear the story of Paul Bunyan's experience? Being a master logger, of course, he did not know a great deal about agriculture, hence the difficulties in which he found himself.

The episode happened just after Paul had logged off the lands along the Missouri river. His hired man (what was that fellow's name?) accidentally dropped a kernel of corn in the rich river bottom soil, and the stalk began growing with such vigor that Paul became worried. He ordered a husky logger to chop it down.

By this time the stalk was the size of a husky pine sapling. The ax stuck in its tough fiber, and while the logger was wrestling with it, trying to free the blade, he was carried up by the swift growth of the corn, now in full glory of its youthful development.

The logger started scrambling down the stalk but could make no progress because its growth was as rapid as his descent. The strenuous and even contest continued for hours until the man was fatigued and very hungry. Paul was able to conserve his employee's strength and save his life only by the expedient of shooting doughnuts to the desperate logger with a shotgun.

Finally, the man was rescued and the danger from the giant corn stalk averted through action of the war department. Federal engineers sent in forces and equipment to remove it, for the reason that it was sucking up the flow of the Missouri to such an extent that the stream was lowered to the point where navigation was impeded.

This certainly was a lesson to Paul Bunyan, as you may very well imagine. It should be a lesson to all growers of tall corn.

Men are mostly inclined to be fair-minded, except of course, in a few little matters like war, love, politics and economics.—Riverside Enterprise.

Coordinate; Yes!

Most modern minded Americans, whether they favored President Roosevelt's recent ill-fated supreme court proposal or strenuously opposed it, no doubt will approve the objective which he outlined in his public statement of Wednesday. He said:

"We have wanted to bring to an end a trying period during which it has seemed that a veritable conspiracy existed on the part of many of the most gifted members of the legal profession to take advantage of the technicalities of the law and the conservatism of the courts to render measures of social and economic reform sterile or abortive.

"Because representative government, in order to succeed, must act through the processes of law, it is necessary for it to attain a high degree of cooperation among its three coordinate branches."

That is fair enough. A coordinated three-branched government certainly must coordinate if it is going to function successfully. Webster's dictionary defines the verb to coordinate as follows: "To regulate in harmonious action." Any efficient business must operate through harmonious action of its parts; and there is no bigger nor more important business than the U. S. A.

"Ain't God good to Harlan county?" is the first line of a poem in the congressional record. Well, anyway He is patient!

FAIR Enough

An Interview With "Cynical" Mr. Pegler

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Roosevelt, in her column, makes of a colleague with a caustic pen and says, "I frequently read him because it entertains me to see how things may be twisted, according to your own bias and your lack of knowledge and understanding."

"If you believed him," she writes, "you would be deeply depressed about human nature, not only in the individual whom he mentions, but in the feeling you get of general cynicism about people."

It took me some time to figure out who this was, but after awhile I got it, and interviewed the man in question, who said he supposed the most caustic of his remarks in recent months had dealt with the second Louisiana purchase. He said he had written as much in sorrow as in anger about this deal, because he had believed in President Roosevelt and had personally resented Huey Long's shocking insults in the senate and on the air in the early days of the New Deal.

He had seen Huey's dictatorship in action, with troops, plainclothes slugs and all. He had seen a steel woman arrested and taken to the town jail in Baton Rouge because she dared to approach the state capital to present a petition to the legislature. He didn't believe Mr. Roosevelt ever would compromise with men capable of participating in such dreadful crimes against the American form of government.

INDICTMENTS

When a number of Huey's men were indicted on charges of violating the income tax law, he was all for that, and thought the indictments were strictly on the level.

The disillusionment came when, after Huey's death, the remaining indictments were dismissed with the explanation that there had been a change in the atmosphere. Our subject may have lacked certain inside knowledge of the transaction, but to him it looked as though there had been a most cynical misuse of the courts one way or another.

He reckoned that either the indictments were obtained for political purposes or dismissed for political considerations, and it wasn't he, but a Louisiana politician, one of Huey's most notorious operators, who called the compromise the second Louisiana purchase.

A correspondent of the New York Times was talking to this man, and had asked him how he and the boys were getting along with the administration and the man said, "Oh, fine, fine; haven't you heard about the second Louisiana purchase?"

HATED DICTATORS

Cynical? Well, doesn't that kind of criticism breed cynicism?

Our subject said he had all forms of dictatorship, and he explained that that was why, to the best of his ability, he had opposed Charles Coughlin, the radio priest; Dr. Townsend, and Gerald Smith in the last campaign. He was against special privilege, too, and the abuse of power by persons in office, particularly high office.

And then he found listed as a progressive statesman of the New South, and one of Mr. Roosevelt's most devoted supporters, Theodore Ellender, of Louisiana, who had sat on the throne in Baton Rouge as speaker of the house, and helped Huey railroad through all the rough-stuff of which the dictatorship was made. And, for another, he found listed Senator Theodore Bilbo, of Mississippi, who frankly admitted with a mischievous grin that he had drawn $8000 a year in Washington for reading and clipping newspapers and magazines at a time when everybody was supposed to be scraping and saving to provide eating-money for the poor.

MILLION 'BUCKS'

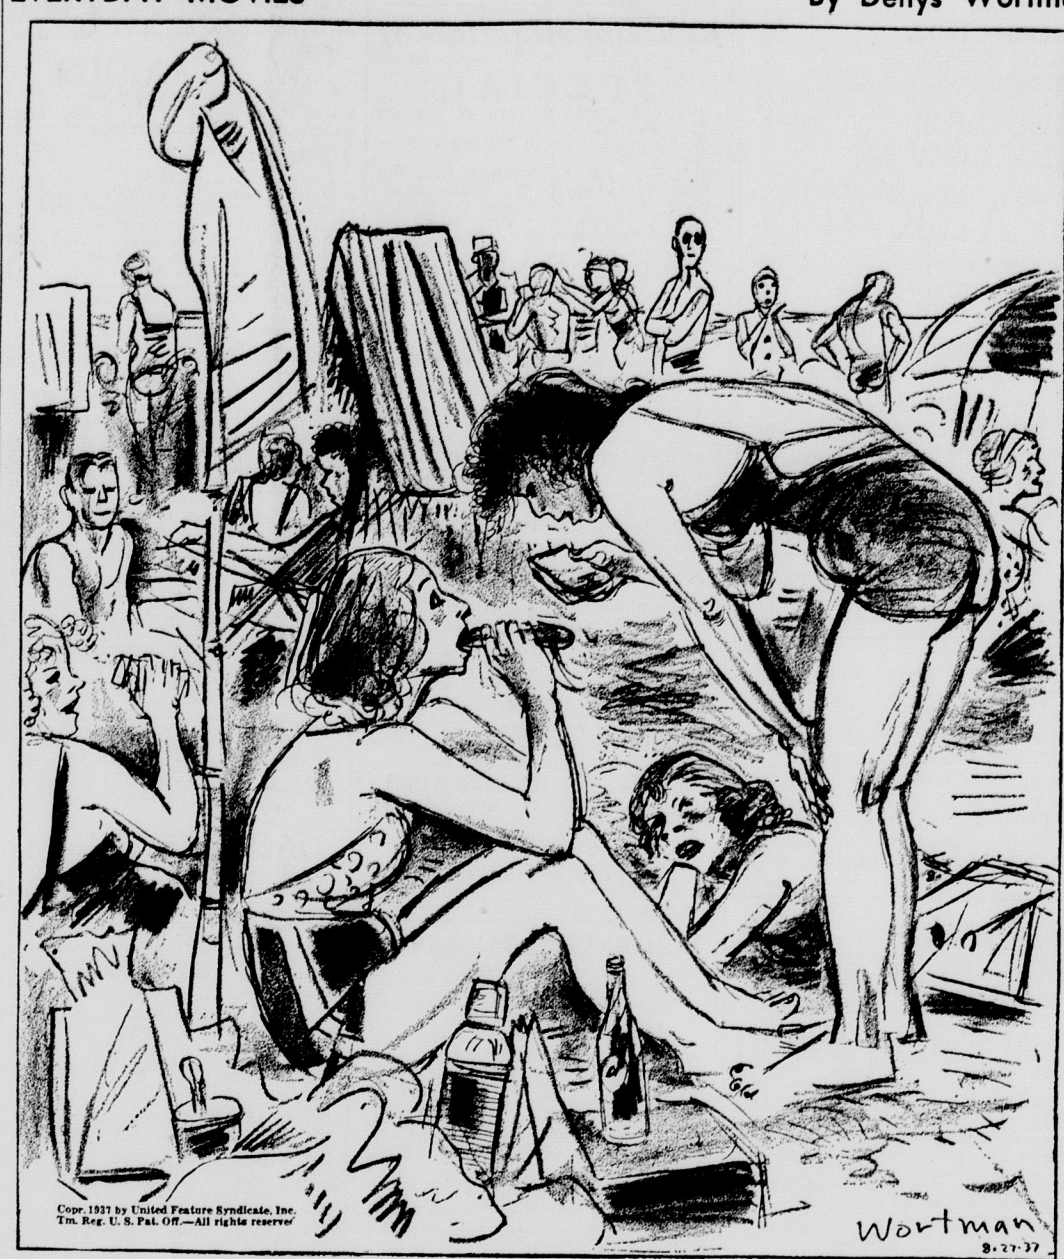

Well, then came that holding-company and incorporated yacht business. Our subject has no litch for millionaires, and he thinks a million bucks is more money than anyone needs or deserves, but Mr. Roosevelt personalized this matter, and then it turned out that the law had long recognized the holding company as a legitimate thing.

So individuals who had done nothing wrong were smeared by a personal suggestion from the President that they had done something immoral or unethical or both. Quite a few of these individuals just happened to be political opponents of the President, so again it looked as if someone was trying to coerce people into line.

And, our subject thought that inasmuch as the President personally had insisted on giving the public a peek at other people's affairs, he should have laid down his cards, too, and those of his boys, Jim and Elliott, for everyone to see. Why not?

Our fellow said he sincerely admired Mrs. Roosevelt, and much regrets any unhappiness which he may have caused her, because he sincerely believes that she never PITTSBURGH.—Four trainmen were killed early today when a Pennsylvania passenger train crashed into a work train near Conway, west of here.

Determined that rights to water systems which they have held for years should not be disturbed by proposed legislation, the principal owners of water rights and systems in the counties of San Diego, Imperial, Orange, Riverside, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara and Ventura met yesterday and perfected the organization of the Southern Counties Water Protective association.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and writing on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

CENSORSHIP AT HOME

To the Editor: Tactics of fascism and communism apparently do not conform to design nations. The idea that news the people should have, can be censored has spread throughout Orange county and lodged firmly in the minds of city and county officials as well in the minds of persons who serve on public bodies and commissions.

First, it was noticed in the board of supervisors. They discussed—and still do—practically all of the important problems and affairs of the county behind closed doors in a "caddy." It is only through persistence and a desire to give the people the news that facts about what is going on can be secured by reporters, it would seem from what we laymen can learn.

Then the Santa Ana city council became riled because a reporter insisted on writing the news about city affairs. They barred reporters from their so-called "informal" sessions, held each afternoon before the night meeting. Many things of importance come up in the afternoon meetings, things the public should know and be before it is too late to register protests.

The movement sifted down to the city commissions. The influence of city councilmen was brought to bear on the new traffic safety commission. Now its meetings are held in secret, and only such news as the commission wants known is released.

The "keep the people ignorant" movement has spread to the Chamber of Commerce, of all organizations. Directors of the chamber, influenced by the secretary, one of them informs me, have decided that reporters should not attend their meetings. And when meetings are held, it is only the "desirable" information which seeps out. Their program, they say, is to do "things quietly, and without making a rumpus. They're afraid they might make somebody mad if the people know what's going on."

That's not all. The Central Labor Council has prohibited reporters from attending its meetings. The Farm Bureau has had a similar policy in effect for some time. There might be more excuse for this group, because it is a private organization. But just the same, there are hundreds of families that would like to know what agricultural groups are doing. Besides, a bureau in another county, to which I belonged, did not feel such suppression was wise or necessary.

Why do all these officials and groups want the news hidden from the people? Red-blooded Americans would not tolerate censorship of the news by the national government. That would be fascism or communism, and a mighty protest would be raised throughout the nation. Yet right here in Orange county, government officials, supposedly servants of the people, spend about as much time trying to keep news from the people as they do in making news by constructive activities.

ASKS WHY

To the Editor: Will some criminal lawyer please answer. Why is the constitutional provision that no person shall be made to give testimony tending to "incriminate or degrade" him?

Does the law recognize the principle that the crime and the degradation consist of being found out, of being publicly known as a criminal and degraded person? If not, why is the law so tender to persons who dare not take the witness stand and answer any question asked? Does the law suppose that most persons are guilty of legal or moral offenses, that the only "respectable" citizens are those who manage to conceal their wrong doings, and that insofar as possible they should be aided and abetted in such concealment, even though it may mean the defeating of justice to another citizen or to all other citizens?

I can't see it and I'd like to know the why of it. If there is any majesty in the law, if the law is designed to be effective, why this?

PANS PEGLER

To the Editor: Must we have the vitriolic Mr. Pegler? He is the hatingest person, fairly drips vitriol; must poison himself. He takes all his hating out on Roosevelt.

Some of us are becoming very bored. After all, Roosevelt didn't sneak in by a narrow margin. A great majority of us voted for him and would again tomorrow. It seems we must approve of his works. Mr. Pegler must belong to the vanishing race, the G. O. P.

Guess I'm driven to taking the L. A. Daily News. Maybe he writes for that, too. Heavens, I hope not.

Wouldn't it be fun if Mr. Pegler and other disappointed supporters would write something constructive just now and then? Just no one's business.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor: I have read with interest your articles regarding deceased father Robert Squires. While I knew at the time the tabulet was to have been placed, I did

WHIMSIES

NEW YORK.—Thoughts while strolling: For one of Alva Johnston's searching profiles: Herbert Hoover. Not a modest as the tennis stars. Dick Berlin's car. R. B. 6. Those spic and span cadets down from West Point. Whatever became of Louis Calhern?

Rhyme: Mervyn LeRoy seems just a little boy. Overheard: "Look me up, old man, I'll be there." Don Amechi sounds like stepping on a squeak ball. Teeth wide apart celebrities: Henry L. Doherty and Harold Ross. Burns Mantle suggests the gentle curate more than the critic.

Memory: Unhooking the hammock during a sudden shower. In a two-way hat, Joe Bryan III would make a dandy Sherlock Holmes. And Max Gordon standing hatless before the corner cigar store would make the proprietor. Col. Joe Hartfield doesn't walk, he bounds. And Gene Buck skims.

But add up all the walks and you have nothing to compare to the rowdy powdy swagger of Hope Williams. Ahibition of every rookie cop: To sing like Nick Konevsky, discover, Phil Regan. Never pass Luchow's without thinking of James Gibbons Hunneker. And H. L. Mencken.

Joe Louis could do all right with a café in Harlem when he hangs up his glove has one thing as a trenchwoman, Lois Long is one. The flip talker's overworked catch line: "Don't let it throw you!" But best of all was their: "Is everything under control?"

Adela Rogers St. Johns has a German Shepherd dog that is carrying on an old school sort of championship with a neighbor's Chesapeake setter at her estate at Great Neck, L. I. Every other day they exchange formal afternoon calls, sitting about while politely, perhaps playing a bit and then scratching out for naps. On especially hot days they trot down to the Sound together for a swim. Their visits are always alternate, not one has gone to visit the other twice in succession. Formality, no end.

Few New York police commissioners have been so thoroughly by the underworld as the incumbent, Edward Valentine. And the hatred is mutual. The commissioner is unable to conceal his scorn and contempt for old offenders or those who try to evade the law by hiring high-priced lawyers. He brought before the grand jury brought before the grand jury, no courtesy whatever, and if they show any inclination to talk back he can scarcely restrain himself from hopping up from his desk and swinging a few from the ankle.

As a police reporter for a number of years, I never saw a really courageous crook. One who, caught, would stand up bravely as in the movies and sneer "So what?" The moment they realize the break is coming, they wilt and snivel. Sometimes under the soporific of drink or drugs when first first brought in they show a bravado, but once the stimulants wear off they cringe. I have seen the toughest cry like babies and cuffed a bit. They will gang up and shoot a cop or fire from ambush, but never slug toe to toe. One veteran police chief told me that in his experience he had never seen a hardened criminal not yellow at the core. In nothing do they play fair, always they seek advantage.

I'm forever wondering how Percy Crosby keeps "Skippy" skedaddling along in such top form through interminable strips, always proving a smile, perhaps a slight throw of the hand, inspiring some agreeable jet of philosophic thought. On paper they seem so easy and casual. But such ideas do not just pop into mind. They are products of stewing in one's own juice, a travail of torment with the dead-line only a few hours away.

My admiration for Crosby was enhanced today because it has been done for me of utter mental sterility. I have straightened one of Peter Arno's framed originals a dozen times, counted the window panes in the side of Bill Corum's hotel across the roof top, got myself squirted up with red ink cleaning two fountain pens and looked up such words as slyzyzy and sillic in the dictionary. Those days are not frequent, but they come often enough to hurl a typewriter out the window and follow it with a despairing shriek. (Copyright, 1937)

I just wanted to write this little note and will stop some day while I am passing through Santa Ana and thank you personally.

I also wish to extend greetings to any of my old friends that might be with your paper and any of others in Santa Ana.

Thanking you again I remain, Yours very truly, E. R. SQUIRES. Oxnard, Calif.
